3rd Canadian Division Support Base Edmonton (commonly referred to as Edmonton Garrison) plans and manages the delivery of a range of support and services that are needed by other Canadian Armed Forces units and their members. To enable success of the units/members that are supported, the base provides personnel and administrative support, range and training areas, and technical support to lodger units in Edmonton and Detachment Wainwright.

The base is located in Sturgeon County on the Northeast border of the City of Edmonton and covers 2500 hectares of land. The main site is named Steele Barracks after Sir Samuel Steele, an original founding member of the Northwest Mounted Police.
