Chairperson's Message

As the Chairperson of the Military Grievances External Review Committee, I am pleased to submit the Committee's 2015-16 Report on Plans and Priorities.

This document presents the Committee's 2015-16 plans to meet its priorities with regards to operational efficiency and management excellence, while remaining ready to respond to any change to the context in which it operates.

In the coming two years, the Committee expects a significant increase in grievance referrals mostly due to the Chief of the Defense Staff's decision to reduce the Canadian Armed Forces' grievance backlog at the Initial Authority level (Operation RESOLUTION)¹. In order to contribute to this effort, the Committee will continue to put in place measures and strategies that will ensure the organization maintains its ability and agility to handle cases in a fair and expeditious manner without compromising the quality of its Findings and Recommendations.

On the internal services level, the Committee will continue to ensure that proper instruments are in place to support operations, particularly in the areas of finance, human resources and IT. Other plans include assessing the results of the Public Service Employee Survey and external audits and implementing any action that may be required; migrating our Human Resources platform to PeopleSoft; implementing Twitter as a new social media strategy; and completing the migration of the Committee's Web site content to the new www.Canada.ca Web site. As well, the Committee will continue to engage its staff in Destination 2020 and will implement the results of this broad consultation of public servants about the future of the Public Service.

Every year brings its own share of challenges and opportunities. Next year will be no exception. However, I am confident that the Committee and its staff will face the challenges, seize the opportunities and succeed in achieving the plans outlined in this report. Together, we will continue to strive to achieve our vision - To be a centre of expertise in military grievances and a model administrative tribunal, through fair and efficient processes, professionalism, and good governance.

Bruno Hamel
Chairperson

¹ Operation RESOLUTION aims at reducing the Initial Authority grievance backlog by at least 95% by the end of 2014 (31 March 2015 for the Director General Compensation and Benefits) while concurrently ensuring that Initial Authorities posture themselves to resolve grievances received after 1 June 2014 within four months on a steady state.

Mandate

The Military Grievances External Review Committee is an independent administrative tribunal reporting to Parliament through the Minister of National Defence.

The Military Grievances External Review Committee reviews military grievances referred to it pursuant to section 29 of the National Defence Act and provides findings and recommendations to the Chief of the Defence Staff and the Canadian Armed Forces member who submitted the grievance.

Organizational Context

Raison d'être

The raison d'être of the Military Grievances External Review Committee is to provide an independent and external review of military grievances. Section 29 of the National Defence Act (NDA) provides a statutory right for an officer or a non-commissioned member who has been aggrieved, to grieve a decision, an act or an omission in the administration of the affairs of the Canadian Armed Forces. The importance of this broad right cannot be overstated since it is, with certain narrow exceptions, the only formal complaint process available to Canadian Armed Forces members.

Responsibilities

The Committee reviews military grievances referred to it and provides findings and recommendations (F&Rs) to the Chief of the Defence Staff (CDS) and the officer or non-commissioned member who submitted the grievance.

The Committee also has the obligation to deal with all matters before it as informally and expeditiously as the circumstances and the considerations of fairness permit.

Strategic Outcome and Program Alignment Architecture

1. Strategic Outcome: The Chief of the Defence Staff and members of the Canadian Armed Forces have access to a fair, independent and timely review of military grievances.

Risk Analysis

Key Risks

Risk	Risk Response Strategy	Link to Program Alignment Architecture
Risk #1 – Committee’s relevance. The risk was rated as moderate.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Ensure the quality and timeliness of our product. ▪ Implement a communications strategy. 	Independent review of military grievances.
Risk #2 – Significant fluctuations in volume of grievances received. The risk was rated as moderate.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Monitor workload planning assumptions. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Integrated Business and Human Resources Planning (IBHRP). ▪ Communicate regularly with the Canadian Armed Forces. ▪ Ensure appropriate staffing strategies are in place. ▪ Track financial situation and workload. ▪ Review internal grievance process. 	Independent review of military grievances.
Risk #3 – Human Resources capacity and competencies. The risk was rated as moderate.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Plan for succession in key positions. ▪ Develop a variety of staffing mechanisms and alternatives. ▪ Anticipate and risk manage staffing levels. ▪ Provide training opportunities. ▪ Implement a continuous learning process. ▪ Enhance the leadership competencies of management. ▪ Monitor workload volumes. ▪ Establish Specific, Measurable, Attainable, Relevant and Trackable (SMART) work objectives and clear expectations for employees. ▪ Inform the Minister of National Defence of any upcoming Committee member’s vacancies. ▪ Create a healthy workplace environment. 	Independent review of military grievances.

Risk #1 – There is a risk that the Committee will be perceived as not adding value to the Canadian Armed Forces grievance process. Some risk drivers include: the quality and timeliness of the Committee’s Findings and Recommendations (F&R). To mitigate this risk, the Committee will:

- monitor its internal grievance process and timelines
- provide key and focussed training to staff and Committee Members.
- communicate the role and results of its work to Canadian Armed Forces stakeholders and to parliamentarians.

Risk # 2 – There is a risk that the Committee will be unable to adapt to a significant fluctuation of grievances. The Committee has no control over the volume of cases referred to it by the Canadian Armed Forces. As a micro organization, it has limited capacity to react to a sudden influx of grievances. This could result in not meeting its internal production standards. To mitigate this risk, the Committee will:

- conduct regular assessments of its internal grievance review processes to identify further opportunities for streamlining.
- monitor workload planning assumptions and ensure appropriate and flexible staffing strategies are put in place.

Risk # 3 – There is a risk that the Committee will not have the appropriate staff to carry out its mandate. A risk factor is that the members of the Committee are appointed and their mandates renewed by the Governor in Council (GIC). Another factor is the capacity to recruit and retain a skilled workforce. The Committee's effectiveness is due in large part to its knowledgeable and stable workforce. However, it is challenging to retain employees because the size of the organization limits the number of internal opportunities for advancement. To mitigate this risk, the Committee will:

- plan for succession in key positions and develop a variety of staffing mechanisms.
- ensure knowledge transfer by developing lessons learned, procedures and manuals.

Planning Highlights

Efforts under this program will support the Committee's Priority #1: Ensure optimum productivity and excellence and Priority #2: Communicate the Committee's role, results and activities, as described in the section Organizational Priorities. At the same time, the Committee will manage risks related to its relevance and to the significant fluctuation in volume of grievances received as described in the section Risk Analysis. To support this program, the Committee will undertake the following key initiatives in 2015-16:

- Monitor its caseload to assess resource levels going forward. The purpose of this activity is to collect and analyze performance indicator data, assess performance against stated targets and report this information in its annual Departmental Performance Report to Parliament. The information and findings from the assessment will also be used to make informed adjustments to its internal grievance review process; all the while focusing on productivity and maintaining the high quality of its product.
- Conduct evaluations of the effectiveness of communications activities.
- Introduce Twitter as the Committee's Social Media platform to conduct some of its outreach activities and to obtain feedback from stakeholders and target audiences.

Section III: Supplementary Information

Future-Oriented Statement of Operations

The future-oriented condensed statement of operations provides a general overview of the Military Grievances External Review Committee's operations. The forecast of financial information on expenses and revenues is prepared on an accrual accounting basis to strengthen accountability and to improve transparency and financial management.

Because the future-oriented condensed statement of operations is prepared on an accrual accounting basis, and the forecast and planned spending amounts presented in other sections of the Report on Plans and Priorities are prepared on an expenditure basis, amounts differ.

A more detailed future-oriented statement of operations and associated notes, including a reconciliation of the net cost of operations to the requested authorities, can be found on the Military Grievances External Review Committee's ^v website.

Future-Oriented Condensed Statement of Operations For the Year Ended March 31, 2015 (dollars)

Financial Information	2014–15 Estimated Results	2015–16 Planned Results	Difference
Total expenses	6,201,000	7,052,000	851,000
Total revenues	–	–	–
Net cost of operations	6,201,000	7,052,000	851,000

Estimated results in 2014-15 are lower than 2015-16 due to planned savings in operating expenditures in 2014-15.

Tax Expenditures and Evaluations

The tax system can be used to achieve public policy objectives through the application of special measures such as low tax rates, exemptions, deductions, deferrals and credits. The Department of Finance Canada publishes cost estimates and projections for these measures annually in the Tax Expenditures and Evaluations^{vi} publication. The tax measures presented in the Tax Expenditures and Evaluations publication are the responsibility of the Minister of Finance.
