

Tax tip

The age amount has increased

Did you know...

That if you were 65 or older on December 31, 2007, and your net income was less than $65,449, you can claim the age amount? You may also be able to transfer unused portions of the age amount to your spouse or common-law partner.

For more information, visit www.cra.gc.ca/individuals and select “A” from the drop-down menu for “Age amount.”
