

Tax tip

You're filing electronically – Keep your receipts!

Did you know...

That over 13 million Canadians filed their 2006 income tax return electronically? You can use NETFILE to send your return over the Internet to the Canada Revenue Agency, or ask your tax preparer to use EFILE. If you prefer using a telephone, use the CRA's TELEFILE filing service at 1-800-959-1110.

Filing your return electronically means that you don't have to mail your return. You also get your refund quicker, in as little as eight business days! Keep your receipts to support your claims. We may ask for them at a later date.

To find out more about electronic services, visit www.cra.gc.ca/electronicsservices.

Canada Revenue
Agency

Agence du revenu
du Canada

Canada