

Tax tip

T2 electronic filing

Did you know...

That no system upgrades or changes are required to file your corporation income tax returns electronically?

When you use a Canada Revenue Agency-certified software package that has the Corporate Internet filing module, there are no additional system requirements. There is no cost to Internet file, either, so if you are among the approximately 90% of corporations that already use commercial software products to produce your T2 return, filing your return electronically is easy.

Simply log on to My Business Account to submit your electronic return without a Web access code or use the Internet filing option in your software package with your Web access code or EFILE on-Line number and password. Need to pay a balance? You may find it convenient to use your financial institution's Internet or telephone banking service.

For more information on filing your T2 return electronically, go to www.cra.gc.ca/corporation-internet.

You can also view the status of a return, as well as access the account balance and transactions and other services for corporation income tax accounts online. For more information, go to www.cra.gc.ca/mybusinessaccount.
