Instructions on completing I-137B form

The I-137B form is intended for use by stakeholders to request services of the Canadian Grain Commission for concerns related to infestation.

Infestation is grain that contains any injurious, noxious or troublesome insect or animal pest. The Canada Grain Regulations establish procedures for handling infested grain at primary elevators. Grain found infested at terminal elevators is handled and treated under the direction of an officer of the Canadian Grain Commission.

Grain grades are assigned based on representative samples. It is important that samples accurately represent the entire lot of grain being assessed. For more information on sampling grain, please visit the following link: <https://www.grainscanada.gc.ca/en/grain-quality/sampling-grain/>
