Are you eligible?

For all benefit and credit payments, you need to:

- be a resident of Canada for income tax purposes
- have significant ties in Canada (a home, spouse or common-law partner, or dependents)

For some benefit and credit payments, you also need a valid immigration and citizenship status:

- Canadian citizen or permanent resident
- protected person
- temporary resident (lived in Canada for the previous 18 months with a valid permit in the 19th month)
  - inform the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) if your permit is renewed to avoid interruptions to payments

Keep getting your payments

Do your taxes by April 30 each year.

Do your taxes even if you have no income or tax-exempt income.

Both married or common-law partners need to do their taxes.

In Quebec, you need to file a separate provincial tax return with Revenu Québec.
