- If the corporation is a member of a single-tier partnership that has a fiscal period-end that differs from the corporation's tax year-end, use this schedule to determine the corporation's income inclusion in respect of the partnership for the tax year under sections 34.2 and 34.3 of the Income Tax Act. Complete a separate schedule for each single-tier partnership.
- Complete Part 2 of this schedule to calculate the adjusted stub period accrual (ASPA) in respect of a single-tier partnership if all of the following conditions apply:
  - the corporation has a significant interest in the partnership at the end of the last fiscal period of the partnership that ends in the tax year
  - another fiscal period of the partnership starts in the tax year and ends after the tax year of the corporation
  - at the end of the tax year, the corporation is entitled to a share of the income, loss, taxable capital gain, or allowable capital loss of the partnership for the fiscal period that ends after the end of the tax year
  - the corporation is not a professional corporation
- Significant interest means that the corporation, or the corporation together with one or more persons or partnerships related to or affiliated with the corporation, is entitled to more than 10% of the income or loss of the partnership or more than 10% of the assets (net of liabilities) of the partnership if it were to cease to exist.
- Generally, amounts included or claimed under subsections 34.2(2), 34.2(3), and 34.2(4) are deemed to have the same character and be in the same proportions as the partnership income to which they relate. For example, if a corporation receives $100,000 of partnership income for the partnership's fiscal period ending in its tax year, and that income is made up of $40,000 of active business income, $30,000 of income from property and $30,000 as a taxable capital gain, the corporation's ASPA for the partnership would be 40% active business income, 30% property income and 30% taxable capital gains.
- Section 34.2 does not apply when calculating, for a tax year of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada, the affiliate's foreign accrual property income for the corporation and, generally, the affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, hybrid surplus or hybrid deficit, and taxable surplus or taxable deficit, for the corporation. See subsection 34.2(8).
- All legislative references are to the Income Tax Act and Income Tax Regulations. This schedule does not replace the Act and its regulations.
- This schedule is a worksheet only. You do not have to file it with your T2 Corporation Income Tax Return.
- Report on Schedule 73, Income Inclusion Summary for Corporations that are Members of Partnerships, the amounts calculated on this schedule. File Schedule 73 with the corporation's T2 return.

Part 2 – Adjusted stub period accrual (ASPA)

A corporation's ASPA in respect of a partnership gives an estimate of the income that the corporation is deferring during a stub period as a result of its membership in a partnership that has a fiscal period that differs from the corporation's tax year. Where the last fiscal period of the partnership begins in the corporation's tax year and ends after that tax year, the stub period is normally the period from the start of that fiscal period to the end of the corporation's tax year.

If the corporation becomes a member of a partnership during a fiscal period of the partnership, see Part 3.

ASPA for the tax year (amount 2I minus amount 2L) (if negative, enter "0") .....		2M

Note 1. The corporation can have more than one fiscal period of the partnership that ends in its tax year. Enter the income or loss allocated to the corporation for all of the fiscal periods.

Note 2. The number of days could be more than 365 if there is more than one fiscal period of the partnership that ends in the corporation's tax year.

Note 3. Subsection 34.2(6) gives the designated amount for qualified resource expenses. Once filed, the designation cannot be amended or revoked. The corporation can designate an amount as its qualified resource expense for the stub period in respect of a partnership to the extent the corporation gets in writing from the partnership, before the corporation's filing due date for the tax year for which the ASPA is being calculated, information identifying the relevant expenses. The relevant expenses are those identified by the partnership as being the corporation's qualified resource expenses incurred by the partnership, determined as if those expenses had been incurred by the partnership in its last fiscal period that ended in the tax year (that is, based on the corporation's share for the last fiscal period, and not at the end of the tax year). The amount designated cannot be more than the maximum amount that would be deductible by the corporation for the identified resource expenses under sections 66.1, 66.2, 66.21, and 66.4 in calculating its income if the partnership's fiscal period ended at the end of the corporation's tax year.

Note 4. The corporation can designate an amount (other than an amount included on amount 2J) on its T2 Corporation Income Tax Return filed on or before the corporation's filing due date. Once filed, the designation cannot be amended or revoked. The corporation may have to include in its income an income shortfall adjustment to account for under-reported income when the corporation has made a discretionary designation to reduce the ASPA inclusion for a previous tax year. For the calculation of the income shortfall adjustment, see Part 4.
