EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This is the annual report issued by the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) on its Mutual Agreement Procedure (MAP) program. This report provides a summary of the MAP program for the period from January 1, 2024, to December 31, 2024.

This report describes the purpose, history and current events that are shaping the future of the MAP program. The publication of statistical information makes the MAP program more transparent and provides some insight to the types of issues addressed by Canada and its treaty partners. A summary of the key findings presented in this calendar year report is provided here:

- The CRA had 200 negotiable MAP cases on January 1, 2024, including 199 post-2015 cases and one pre-2016 case.
- During 2024, the CRA accepted 97 new negotiable MAP cases and closed 76 post-2015 MAP cases.
- The average time to complete all post-2015 negotiable cases was 23.70 months.
- Of the 76 post-2015 MAP cases closed in 2024:
 - 50 cases (65.79%) resulted in full relief from double taxation upon negotiation
 - 7 cases (9.20%) were resolved via domestic remedy
 - 5 cases (6.58%) were withdrawn by the taxpayer
 - 5 cases (6.58%) were resolved with an agreement that there was no taxation not in accordance with the tax treaty
 - 4 cases (5.26%) were resolved through unilateral relief
 - 3 cases (3.95%) had objections not justified
 - 1 case (1.32%) was resolved with no agreement including agreement to disagree
 - 1 case (1.32%) was denied MAP access
- Of the 76 post-2015 MAP cases closed in 2024, 55 (72.37%) were initiated from actions in Canada and 21 (27.63%) were initiated from actions in other countries.
- As of December 31, 2024, the CRA was engaged in negotiable MAP cases involving taxpayers from 35 different jurisdictions of which the United States represented 38.46%.

The CRA encourages taxpayers subject to double taxation or taxation not in accordance with an income tax convention to consider the MAP program.

For more information, see Information Circular (IC) 71-17R6, Competent Authority Assistance Under Canada's Tax Conventions or contact a MAP manager in the Competent Authority Services Division \(CASD\).

The IC 71-17R6 provides interpretation to taxpayers on how to preserve and exercise their treaty rights and explains the roles and responsibilities of both the taxpayer and the Canadian competent authority. It also addresses recent peer review feedback by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) which sought more clarity in Canada's published guidance on the MAP process.

INTRODUCTION

The MAP program is a service provided by the CRA to assist taxpayers in resolving cases of double taxation or taxation not in accordance with the provisions of a tax convention. The process requires co-operation from taxpayers to achieve the goal of resolving such cases.

WHAT IS THE MUTUAL AGREEMENT PROCEDURE

The MAP article in Canada's conventions is a dispute resolution mechanism that allows authorized CRA officials to interact with foreign tax administrations to resolve issues of double taxation and taxation not in accordance with a convention. Under the article, residents in either country may request assistance resolving an issue covered by their convention. In Canada, the Minister of National Revenue authorizes senior CRA officials to try to resolve tax disputes under tax conventions that Canada has with other countries. These senior officials are referred to as the competent authority. A similar authorization usually takes place in Canada's treaty partner countries.

WHO IS INVOLVED IN THE MAP

The Competent Authority Services Division (CASD), which has responsibility for the MAP program, is part of the International and Large Business Directorate in the Compliance Programs Branch of the CRA. The director of the CASD is an authorized competent authority for Canada and is responsible for cases involving double taxation and taxation not in accordance with a convention, as well as for the overall administration of the MAP program. For information on access to and the use of the MAP, see IC71-17R6 Competent Authority Assistance under Canada's Tax Conventions - Canada.ca.

The CASD is responsible for:

- the negotiation and resolution of disputes with foreign tax administrations regarding double taxation or taxation not in accordance with a convention under MAP articles of our tax treaties
- the negotiation of Advance Pricing Arrangements (APAs) with foreign tax administrations to determine appropriate transfer pricing methodologies for complex cross-border transactions undertaken between related parties and to determine methodologies for the attribution of profits to a permanent establishment

The director of CASD is supported by a division of 51 employees structured as follows:

- Director's office includes two senior economic advisors and one senior technical advisor
- Five Transfer Pricing MAP/APA sections consisting of 34 tax and economics specialists, working exclusively on MAP and APA cases concerning resolution of double taxation

- One MAP Technical section consisting of nine tax and legal specialists, working exclusively on non-transfer pricing MAP cases
- One Program Support section consisting of five employees working on procedural, reporting, monitoring and other program-related functions

When a MAP request is received, the request is tracked and assigned to the appropriate section. The section manager and lead analyst assigned are responsible for the review, analysis, negotiation and resolution of the MAP case. If needed, they may seek support from other areas of the CRA including the International Tax Division of the Compliance Programs Branch, the Income Tax Rulings Directorate and the Legislative Policy Directorate of the Legislative Policy and Regulatory Affairs Branch, or the Legal Services Branch (with legal counsel from the Department of Justice Canada).

Taxpayers may choose to represent themselves or authorize a representative to pursue a MAP request on their behalf. Taxpayers, or their representatives, are expected to work co-operatively with the CRA during the MAP process to ensure an accurate and timely resolution to the case.

For more information on barriers to resolving double taxation, how the competent authority achieves resolution through the MAP and benefits of the MAP, please see Appendix A.

THE MAP PROGRAM IN CANADA

Canada's MAP program dates back to 1942, when it signed its first tax treaty with the United States, which contained a MAP provision. Published taxpayer guidance dates back to 1971, with the release of Information Circular 71-17. This information circular has been revised several times, and the CRA now operates under Information Circular 71-17R6, Competent Authority Assistance Under Canada's Tax Conventions.

The number of MAP requests in Canada has grown over the years. The CASD has continuously evolved and implemented a number of initiatives to improve the quality and timeliness of services to taxpayers. These service improvements include the introduction of case management techniques to ensure that MAP requests are progressing on schedule, as well as ongoing efforts to improve the bilateral process with other tax administrations.

Almost half of Canada's 94 tax treaties currently in force have been modified by the Multilateral Convention to Implement Tax Treaty Related Measures to Prevent Base Erosion and Profit Shifting \("Multilateral Instrument" or "MLI"\). The MLI may affect treaty time limits and other MAP-related treaty provisions. A common change is an increase in the amount of time to submit a request for MAP assistance from two years to three years. The MLI also introduces mandatory binding arbitration to resolve certain classes of MAP disputes into some treaties. More of Canada's tax treaties will be modified by the MLI as additional countries sign and ratify this Convention.

Canada remains an active member of the OECD's Forum on Tax Administration (FTA) MAP Forum in Making Dispute Resolution Mechanisms More Effective (BEPS Action 14) and a participant in its peer review process. Canada is also an active member of the MLI Conference of Parties where parties to the MLI work towards common understandings as to the interpretation and application of the MLI, including modifications as they relate to MAP and arbitration.

TIMELINE: GENERAL

When a MAP case involves negotiation with another tax administration (negotiable case), every effort is made to resolve the tax issue as quickly as possible.

The target for resolving a MAP case (including non-negotiable cases) is 24 months or less. This is in line with international standards established by the OECD. However, there are many factors beyond the CRA's control, which may result in this target not being met. Factors include the co-operation and timely receipt of information from the taxpayer, the complexity of an issue, the time that the other competent authority needs to review and respond to a position paper, and the willingness of both competent authorities to adopt reasonable negotiating positions.

The CRA's case management system allows CASD management and staff to monitor the status of MAP cases and report statistics on a number of performance measures, including the average time taken to:

- issue letters after a request is received
- develop a position paper
- negotiate and conclude a case

The CRA continues to enhance its case management system to be in line with the OECD's MAP statistic reporting framework (framework) and to fulfill its commitment to resolve MAP cases in a timely, efficient and effective manner.

Timeline: Negotiable MAP case completions

Beginning in 2016, MAP reporting has been done on a calendar year basis instead of a fiscal year basis. This is in line with the OECD's framework for reporting purposes.

As a result of requirements under the framework, MAP results were categorized as either pre-2016 (cases with a start date prior to January 1, 2016) or post-2015 (cases with a start date after December 31, 2015). The framework requires time reporting by the following stages:

Start to end: Time elapsed between the start date and the end date.

Received to start: Time from receipt of a request until the start date.

Start to position paper: Time between the start date and the date position papers were sent by the CRA or received from a treaty partner.

Position paper to end: Time between the date position papers were sent by the CRA (or received from a treaty partner) and the end date.

Under the framework, the start date is generally expected to be five weeks or less from the receipt of a taxpayer's MAP request. The end date is the date of an official communication (typically in the form of a letter) from the competent authority to advise the taxpayer of the outcome of their request or in the case of a withdrawal, the date the competent authority receives the notice of withdrawal.

MAP RESULTS

The OECD publishes the MAP statistics on an annual basis and further breaks the MAP caseload down by jurisdiction. Specific to Canada, at the start of the 2024 period, there were 200 pending MAP cases and at the end of the period there were 221 cases. During this period, 97 cases were started, and 76 post-2015 cases were closed.

To calculate the average time taken to resolve post-2015 MAP cases, the date of filing of the MAP request was used as the start date and the date of the closing letter sent to the taxpayer was considered the end date.

* According to the framework, an attribution/allocation case is a MAP case where the request relates to the attribution of profits to a permanent establishment or the determination of profits between associated enterprises. This is also known as a transfer pricing MAP case.

Any MAP case that is not defined as an attribution/allocation MAP case is defined as other. This may include requests involving juridical double taxation. This is taxation contrary to a convention where either the MAP is required to resolve an issue (for example the taxation of pension and annuities or other income) or a permanent establishment determination is required.

2024 post-2015 MAP cases closed by outcome

Of the 76 post-2015 MAP cases closed in 2024:

- 50 cases (65.79%) resulted in full relief from double taxation upon negotiation
- 7 cases (9.20%) were resolved via domestic remedy
- 5 cases (6.58%) were withdrawn by the taxpayer
- 5 cases (6.58%) were resolved with an agreement that there was no taxation not in accordance with the tax treaty
- 4 cases (5.26%) were resolved through unilateral relief
- 3 cases (3.95%) had objections not justified
- 1 case (1.32%) was resolved with no agreement including agreement to disagree
- 1 case (1.32%) was denied MAP access

Negotiable MAP cases completed: Canadian-initiated and foreign-initiated

In 2024, the majority of the cases closed (72.37%) were initiated following actions in Canada (Canadian initiated), such as a compliance action by the CRA that results in double taxation for a taxpayer. This has been the trend over the past several years. Overall, in 2024, for cases starting on or after January 1, 2016, it took an average of 23.70 months to resolve a MAP case. Canadian initiated cases took an average of 25.71 months and foreign initiated cases took an average of 18.43 months. The following table shows a breakdown of completed Canadian initiated and foreign initiated cases and further breaks down the data to show the number of cases for both pre-2016 and post-2015.

PROGRAM STATISTICS

The table below shows the number of cases, including non-negotiable cases, that were accepted and completed for the 2020 to 2024 period.

Table 4: Total MAP cases accepted, completed and outstanding

Period	Beginning inventory	Accepted	Completed	Ending inventory
2024	200	1,302	1,214	288
2023	1,197 ¹	199	1,196	200
2022	854 ²	785	444	1,195
2021	485 ³	765	399	851
2020	242 ⁴	467	228	481

MAP cases by type

The following table shows the acceptance and completion of MAP cases by type (negotiable and non-negotiable) and by year, for the period 2020 to 2024.

Negotiable cases generally require negotiations between Canada's competent authority and another tax administration to resolve double taxation or taxation not in accordance with an income tax convention.

Non-negotiable cases are resolved by an agreement between Canada's competent authority and taxpayers. These cases do not require involvement of another tax administration.

¹ The additional 2 cases for the opening inventory are due to the 2 additional cases noted in Table 1.
² The additional 3 cases for opening inventory are due to the 3 additional cases noted in Table 1.
³ Beginning inventory for 2021 updated to account for four additional cases accepted in 2020.
⁴ Ending inventory for 2019 was corrected due to misclassification.

The Pensions category involves elections under the Canada – United States Convention with Respect to Taxes on Income and Capital to defer the taxing of undistributed accrued pension income.

The Gains category includes deferred-gains agreements for all treaties and the application of the transitional rule in the Canada – United States Convention with Respect to Taxes on Income and on Capital.

The Other category generally includes matters relating to estate rollovers, United States “S” corporations, and other issues.

CASD’s workload also includes the analysis of treaty time limits for withholding tax requests received from the CRA’s Sudbury Tax Centre (NR7-R forms). More specifically, CASD’s mandate consists of identifying if the requests for a refund of Part XIII tax are received within the treaty time limit prescribed under the relevant tax conventions and if refunds can consequently be issued beyond the domestic time limit. The tax centre is responsible for verifying if the refunds are warranted and for involving the audit functions. In 2024, CASD reviewed 1,959 NR7-R forms and provided a response to the Sudbury Tax Centre.

Participation by foreign jurisdiction

The CRA is currently engaged in negotiable MAP cases involving taxpayers from 35 jurisdictions: Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Chile, China, Colombia, Cyprus, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Jamaica, Japan, Korea, Luxembourg, Malaysia, Mexico, Netherlands, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Singapore, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, and the United States. The breakdown of negotiable MAPs by country continues to reflect the significant flow of goods and services exchanged between Canada and the United States, representing 38.46% of MAP cases.

Participation by sector

The completed MAP cases cover a wide variety of sectors including: aerospace; agriculture; arts and entertainment; auto and other transportation equipment; chemical and allied industries; computer and electronics; construction equipment and material; e-commerce; finance and insurance; food and beverage; health (including pharmaceutical products); information and publishing services; machinery; management and administrative services; metals and minerals; petroleum; real estate rental and leasing; retail trade; T1 returns – personal tax; technical, scientific and professional services; transportation and warehousing services; wholesale trade and finally wood and paper.

Barriers to resolving double taxation

The CRA maintains effective dispute resolution procedures with all of its treaty partners wherever possible. This requires that tax administrations try to resolve cases in a timely, effective, and efficient manner. Although existing procedures generally work to provide full relief from double taxation, sometimes an agreement cannot be reached on a case.

Examples of situations for which there may be partial relief or no relief of double taxation:

- When notification is not given on a timely basis, or a tax year is statute-barred or becomes statute-barred during negotiations in either jurisdiction
- Refusal of another tax administration to give full relief of a Canadian-initiated adjustment that has been settled through the Canadian domestic tax appeals process
- Inability of another tax administration to vary an adjustment, due to its domestic tax rules
- The Canadian and foreign administrations cannot agree on the interpretation of an issue involving the convention or a bilateral APA
- A foreign adjustment that is not recognized for Canadian tax purposes such as a notional charge, or a Canadian adjustment not recognized by a foreign tax administration
- No response received from another tax administration with respect to Canada's request for a MAP
- Residency issues where the Canadian and foreign administrations cannot agree on how to apply the tie-breaker rules
- Refusal of a taxpayer to provide information requested by one or both tax administrations

How does the Canadian competent authority achieve resolution through the MAP

- A taxpayer who seeks a MAP resolution generally has to formally request assistance from the competent authority of the country in which the taxpayer is resident.
- After a taxpayer's request is submitted, the competent authority of the country in which the taxpayer submitted the request issues an acknowledgement letter to the taxpayer.
- A request submitted to the Canadian competent authority is reviewed to determine whether it is justified under the applicable income tax convention.
- If the request is rejected by the Canadian competent authority, the taxpayer and the other country's competent authority are advised in writing, citing reasons.
- If the request is accepted by the Canadian competent authority, a letter is issued to the taxpayer and the other country's competent authority agreeing to pursue the case.

Note: Some requests may be resolved without the involvement of the other country's competent authority.

- If the request results from a Canadian-initiated adjustment, the Canadian competent authority makes sure that the necessary facts are available (from both the taxpayer and the tax services office (TSO) that generated the adjustment) in order to prepare a position paper.
- For Canadian-initiated adjustments, the Canadian competent authority sends a formal position paper to the other country's competent authority.
- The other country's competent authority reviews the position paper, asks for more information if necessary, and advises the Canadian competent authority of its findings.
- If the other country's competent authority does not agree with the position of the Canadian competent authority, it may be necessary to negotiate the case.
- Negotiation usually resolves the tax issue in question to the satisfaction of the two competent authorities.
- The competent authorities exchange correspondence to confirm the details of a resolution.
- The Canadian competent authority sends the details of the resolution to the taxpayer for acceptance or rejection.
- If the taxpayer accepts the resolution, the Canadian competent authority advises the TSO (and the Appeals Branch, if an objection was filed), providing all necessary details of the resolution.
- The TSO or Appeals processes the results of the resolution.
- If the taxpayer rejects the resolution, the taxpayer may pursue any other domestic recourses.

Benefits of the MAP

- The MAP process is the only mechanism under Canada's network of tax treaties to relieve double taxation or taxation not in accordance with a convention.
- The resolution of double taxation or taxation not in accordance with a convention is a service offered by the CRA at no charge to the taxpayer.
- The MAP process requires co-operation from the taxpayer and regular communication between tax administrations. The views of the taxpayer, as presented in a MAP request, are given due consideration.
- After a MAP request has been accepted and all the facts reviewed, the resolution process is strictly between the two tax administrations, requires no further taxpayer time and expense.
- With the experience of having negotiated hundreds of double tax cases, the CRA's highly skilled staff (accountants, financial analysts, economists and lawyers) are able to prepare a quality position paper and achieve timely case resolution.
- The MAP process can resolve matters for one or more audited tax years. In addition, taxpayers may ask for an accelerated competent authority procedure (ACAP). This procedure is intended to provide assistance for subsequent assessed tax years on the same issues included in a MAP. Advice on ACAPs may be found in the CRA's Information Circular, 71-17R6, Competent Authority Assistance Under Canada's Tax Conventions, and its Transfer Pricing Memorandum 12R, Accelerated Competent Authority Procedure \(ACAP\).
- If a tax issue concerns transfer pricing, taxpayers may find it appropriate to ask for an APA to cover future tax years (generally up to five years). Further guidance from the CRA on APAs may be found in the current version of Information Circular 94-4R2 International Transfer Pricing: Advance Pricing Arrangements.
- As the number of international audits increase and the issues become more complex, the MAP process continues to be the most effective and efficient mechanism to resolve international tax disputes.
- The CRA is committed to making taxpayers aware of the MAP program. The CRA expects that its commitment to the improvement of the program, combined with steadily increasing international audit activity, will result in more taxpayers seeking assistance through the MAP process.
