

TRADE THE BOARDROOM FOR A MISSION.

Ready for a challenging career to advance Canada's national security interest? The Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS) is seeking patriotic, goal-oriented professionals who are looking for an exciting way of life: one of meaning and impact, dedicated to ensuring Canada's safety, security and prosperity.

CSIS is looking for adventurous and resilient candidates who thrive on solving complex problems in an ever-changing environment. They are high-integrity professionals with excellent interpersonal skills, driven to build relationships for strategic advantage.

To protect your anonymity, please do not apply for any other role at CSIS or attempt to contact CSIS through any other means, and do not disclose your application to others. Doing so could invalidate your candidacy for this position.

This image was created with the help of AI.

Candidates must possess the following:

- A valid Canadian passport
- 6+ years of professional client-oriented experience
- The ability to successfully complete security vetting
- The ability and desire to travel internationally

Foreign language skills and international work experience are considered assets.

Candidates with a background in client-facing business, marketing, finance, or technology are especially desirable.

To be considered:

Mail a hard copy of your CV and covering letter detailing your motivation for applying to:

Recruitment Office
PO Box 8070, STN-T
Ottawa, Ontario K1G 3H6

Applications must be mailed from within Canada.

Successful candidates will be contacted within two months of receiving their application.

Canadian Security
Intelligence Service

Service canadien du renseignement de sécurité

Canada