Introduction

Information about programs and information holdings explains:

- ESDC programs and activities
- The information held by ESDC, including personal information under its control

The Access to Information Act and Privacy Act apply to ESDC programs and activities.

Information about Programs and Information Holdings references the personal information of:

- Individuals
- Current and former employees of the government

The purpose of this document is to help them to find out which programs:

- May hold personal information about them
- To focus on when making a formal request under the Access to Information Act and Privacy Act

The list of institutions subject to the Access to Information Act and Privacy Act are available in the legislations themselves.

The Access to Information Act and the Privacy Act assign responsibility to the President of the Treasury Board (as the designated Minister) to administer these legislations.

General information

Background

The Department of Employment and Social Development Act (DESDA) describes the powers, duties and responsibilities of the:

- Minister of Employment and Social Development
- Minister of Labour
- Canada Employment Insurance Commission (CEIC)

The Department reports to Parliament through the Minister of ESDC.

Raison d'être

The mission of Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC) is to:

- Build a stronger and more competitive Canada
- Support Canadians in making choices that help them live productive and rewarding lives
- Improve Canadians' quality of life

Mandate and role

ESDC delivers programs and services to every Canadian throughout their lives in a significant capacity. ESDC fulfills its mission by:

1. Developing policies that ensure Canadians can use their talents, skills and resources to participate in learning, work and their community.
2. Delivering programs that help Canadians move through life's transitions from:
 - School to work

- One job to another
 - Unemployment to employment
 - The workforce to retirement
3. Providing income support to seniors, families with children and those unemployed due to job loss, illness or caregiving responsibilities.
 4. Helping Canadians with distinct needs such as Indigenous people, persons with disabilities, homeless people, travellers and recent immigrants.
 5. Ensuring labour relations stability by providing mediation services.
 6. Promoting a fair and healthy workplace by:
 - Enforcing minimum working conditions
 - Promoting decent work and employment equity
 - Fostering respect for international labour standards
 7. Delivering programs and services on behalf of other departments and agencies.

Operating context: Conditions affecting our work

Each day, we provide important services to millions of Canadians. They expect easy to access and secure services that meet their needs online, through call centres, or in person.

With ESDC's commitment to provide Canadians high quality and timely services, we are working hard to:

- Be responsive to current and future client needs
- Provide secure and easy-to-use digital services
- Work with stakeholders to offer integrated programs and services

We also need to improve data management to enhance service and also protect personal information.

ESDC is creating economic and social policies and programs to:

- Increase Canadians' economic and social security

- Support and improve the well-being of families, children, seniors, workers, indigenous peoples and persons with disabilities

With our policies, we aim to help Canadians gain the skills and experience needed to obtain good quality jobs. We also support families, workers and seniors to get financial security and the quality of life they deserve.

1. Social development

Description

- Increase inclusion and opportunities for participation of Canadians in their communities.

Departmental results

- Homelessness in Canada is prevented and reduced.
- Not-for-profit organizations, communities and other groups have an enhanced capacity to address a range of social issues such as the social inclusion of people with disabilities, the engagement of seniors, and support for children and families.
- Access to early learning and childcare is increased.
- Clients receive high quality, timely and efficient services that meet their needs.

Program mapping

- Reaching Home
- Accessible Canada Initiative
- Social Development Partnerships Program
- New Horizon for Seniors Program
- Enabling Accessibility Fund
- Social Innovation / Social Finance

1.1 Homelessness Partnering Strategy

This program's activities supported the implementation of effective and lasting community solutions to prevent and reduce homelessness throughout Canada. It was a community-based program that provided funding to communities and service providers in the form of grants and contributions. The Homelessness Partnering Strategy was replaced by Reaching Home on April 1, 2019.

1.2 Reaching Home

Reaching Home supports community-based responses to prevent and reduce homelessness across Canada. Communities and service providers receive grants and contributions funding to support services targeted to individuals, families and Indigenous peoples who are homeless or at imminent risk of homelessness in urban centres, rural communities and in the territories.

Outside of Quebec, federal funding is prioritized based on input from Community/Regional Advisory Boards, as communities are best placed to identify their needs. In Quebec, Reaching Home is administered through the Canada-Quebec Agreement that respects the jurisdiction and priorities of both governments.

Reaching Home Works with communities to develop and deliver data-driven system plans with clear outcomes. Communities are asked to report publicly on community-wide outcomes. The program also collects and analyzes national homelessness data and shares knowledge with communities, partners and stakeholders. Federally-funded projects and federal leadership that fosters transformation of the sector, together promote the prevention and reduction of homelessness in Canada.

The Government of Canada is one of many funding partners addressing homelessness. Performance indicators and expected results are impacted by multiple factors. The program is a transfer payment program with non-repayable grants and contributions. However, some repayment clauses are outlined in the Terms and Conditions.

Reaching Home replaced the Homelessness Partnering Strategy on April 1, 2019 and uses funding from the transfer payment under the same name. Note that the Surplus Federal Real Property for Homelessness Initiatives expired on March 31, 2019.

1.3 Accessible Canada Initiative

The Accessible Canada initiative supports a proactive approach to the identification, removal and prevention of barriers to accessibility, particularly through the implementation and ongoing administration of the Accessible Canada Act (ACA), along with the advancement of broader accessibility initiatives. This includes developing accessibility regulations under the Act; providing horizontal policy analysis and overall strategic direction to support the interpretation of the Act; collaborating with Statistics Canada to develop an Accessibility Data and Measurement Strategy to measure the Act's outcomes; initiating Public Opinion Research (POR) to measure Canadian attitudes towards accessibility; leading stakeholder engagement to inform policy and regulatory development; supporting the implementation of new structures under the Act, such as the Chief Accessibility Officer and the Canadian Accessibility Standards Development Organization (CASDO); awareness activities to promote broader culture change outcomes and raise the profile of accessibility at the national level; providing expertise on accessibility to other areas under Federal Jurisdiction; and accessibility-focused grants and contributions, administered through the Social Development Partnerships Program-Disability.

- Accessible Canada Initiative \(CoR\)

1.4 Social Development Partnerships Program

The Social Development Partnerships Program (SDPP) is a grants and contributions program. It supports government of Canada priorities through investment in not-for-profit organizations that aim to improve the quality of life of persons with disabilities, children and families, Black Canadian communities, and other vulnerable populations facing physical, economic and social pressures. The program has an annual budget supporting two components: Disability and Children and Families.

Grants and contributions support communities, not-for-profit, and voluntary sector organizations in providing vulnerable Canadian populations with the tools and skills to respond to current and emerging social issues that they are facing, such as a limited ability to participate in the workplace or to contribute to their families and communities.

1.5 New Horizons for Seniors Program

The New Horizons for Seniors Program supports the Government of Canada's overarching social goals to enhance the quality of life and promote the full participation of individuals in all aspects of Canadian society. In doing so, the program initiatives at the national, regional and community level address seniors' issues through partnerships and the engagement and contributions of seniors themselves. The program's design includes two streams: Community-based grants and Pan-Canadian grants and contributions.

Community-based grants address social challenges 'on the ground' and recognize communities as the focal point for program and service delivery. Funded projects are volunteer-based; supported by communities; inspired or led by seniors; and, address one or more of the five program objectives. Selected through annual calls for proposals, one-year Community-based projects are eligible to receive up to $25,000 in grant funding.

Pan-Canadian grants and contributions support innovative projects that create a significant impact in communities and invest in large initiatives that meet the growing social needs of seniors. Organizations can apply for projects up to five years in duration and up to $5M in funding under the pan-Canadian stream.

- Pan-Canadian \(CoR\)

1.6 Enabling Accessibility Fund

Persons with disabilities often experience barriers to their participation and inclusion in daily activities. To support their participation in society, the Enabling Accessibility Fund (EAF) is taking concrete action to ensure greater accessibility and opportunities.

The EAF provides funding for eligible capital projects that increase accessibility and eliminate barriers for persons with disabilities in communities and workplaces creating more opportunities for them to participate in community activities, programs and services, or to access employment opportunities. Eligible recipients are not-for-profit, for-profit and Indigenous organizations, as well as municipal and territorial governments. They can apply for funding through periodic funding processes under three program components.

The small projects component supports small-scale construction, renovation or retrofit projects that increase accessibility in communities or workplaces.

The youth innovation component empowers youth to identify accessibility barriers within their communities and work with local organizations to find solutions to increase accessibility and safety in community spaces and workplaces.

The mid-sized projects component supports larger retrofit, renovation or construction projects of facilities or venues that house or will house programs and services geared towards addressing the social and/or labour market integration needs of persons with disabilities in a holistic manner.

- Enabling Accessibility \(CoR\)

1.7 Social Innovation and Social Finance Strategy

The Social Innovation and Social Finance (SI/SF) Strategy aims to strengthen the ability of communities to develop, finance and scale new solutions to persistent social and environmental challenges in Canada. The Investment Readiness Program (IRP) represents one of the first foundational elements in building a SI/SF Strategy for Canada. The IRP is a two-year grants and contributions program aimed at improving the ability of social purpose organizations to participate in the social finance market and the larger social innovation ecosystem.

Other foundational elements of the SI/SF Strategy include the proposed Social Finance Fund and Social Innovation Advisory Council expected to launch in 2020 to 2021.

2. Pensions and benefits

Description

- Assist Canadians in maintaining income for retirement, and provide financial benefits to survivors, people with disabilities and their families.

Departmental results

- Seniors have income support for retirement
- People with disabilities and their families have financial support
- Clients receive high quality, timely and efficient services that meet their needs

Program mapping

- Old Age Security
- Canada Pension Plan
- Canada Disability Savings Program
- Universal Child Care Benefit
- Canadian Benefit for Parents of Young Victims of Crime

2.1 Old Age Security

The Old Age Security program is one of the main sources of retirement income for senior Canadians. Its objective is to ensure a minimum income for seniors and to contribute to their income replacement in retirement. The Old Age Security program is funded through federal tax revenues. The benefits payable under the Old Age Security program include the Old Age Security pension, the Guaranteed Income Supplement, and the Allowances. The Old Age Security Pension is a monthly payment to all Canadians aged 65 or older who meet the residence and legal status requirements. To be eligible for the pension, an individual must have resided in Canada for at least 10 years after the age of 18. A full pension is paid to seniors with at least 40 years of residence in Canada after the age of 18.

2.2 Canada Pension Plan

The Canada Pension Plan (CPP), a contributory social insurance program and is a key component of the Retirement Income System. It provides eligible contributors and their families with modest income replacement in the event of retirement, disability or death. It is funded by contributions from employees, employers, self-employed individuals, and revenue from investments. The retirement pension, the main benefit of CPP, is meant to replace 25% of career average pensionable earnings. Beginning in 2019, this amount will gradually increase to 33.33% as a result of the CPP Enhancement, with 40 years of contributions required to receive the full effects of the enhancement. The monthly pension amount depends on the age at which a beneficiary begins receiving it. To be eligible, at least one contribution to the Plan must have been made. Working beneficiaries can increase retirement income through the Post Retirement Benefit. The Canada Pension Plan also provides supplementary benefits.

2.3 Canada Pension Plan Disability Benefits

The Canada Pension Plan Disability (CPPD) pension and Post Retirement Disability benefit provide eligible contributors with partial income replacement in the event of severe and prolonged disability. The Plan also provides a one-time death benefit and a monthly survivor's pension to the families of deceased eligible contributors. In addition, the Plan pays a monthly flat-rate children's benefit for dependent children of the deceased and disabled contributors.

2.4 Canada Disability Savings Program

The Canada Disability Savings Grant is a limited matching grant up to $3,500 a year that the government deposits into a Registered Disability Savings Plan (RDSP) to match private contributions to the plan. Grants may be paid into a plan until the end of the calendar year in which the beneficiary turns 49 years old. The limit is $70,000 of grants over the beneficiary's lifetime. In addition, the Government will deposit a Canada Disability Savings Bond of up to $1,000 a year into the RDSPs of low and modest-income Canadians. Bonds may be paid into a plan until the end of the calendar year in which the beneficiary turns 49 years old. The limit is $20,000 in bonds over the beneficiary's lifetime. There is no annual RDSP contribution limit, but there is a maximum lifetime contribution limit of $200,000. No contributions are necessary to receive a bond.

The objective of the Canada Disability Savings Program is to encourage long-term savings to help ensure the financial security of people with severe and prolonged disabilities by providing Government of Canada incentives (grants and bonds) to open and contribute to an RDSP. The grant and bond respond to long-standing and ongoing needs identified by people with disabilities, their families, and organizations supporting them to reduce barriers to saving for the future.

2.5 Universal Child Care Benefit

The Universal Child Care Benefit is a statutory income benefit introduced in 2006 designed to assist Canadian families with young children by supporting their child care choices through direct financial support. The Universal Child Care Benefit was designed with the objective of supporting families in the choice of child care that best meets the needs of their family. Families receive up to $1,200 per year for each child under six, taxable in the hands of the lower income spouse. Families can use this monthly benefit to best address their child care needs. The Universal Child Care Benefit is a pillar in the system of income benefits for families with children adding to existing measures such as the Canada Child Tax Benefit and the National Child Benefit Supplement and does not affect the benefits families receive under these programs or the Child Care Expense Deduction.

2.6 Canadian Benefit for Parents of Young Victims of Crime

The Canadian Benefit for Parents of Young Victims of Crime grant is an income support grant available to eligible applicants who have suffered a loss of income from taking time away from work to cope with the death or disappearance of their child or children, as a result of a probable Criminal Code offence.

3. Learning skills development and employment

- Grants and Contributions Files \(CoR\)

Description

- Help Canadians access post-secondary education, obtain the skills and training needed to participate in a changing labour market, and provide supports to those who are temporarily unemployed

Departmental results

- More students from low- and middle-income families access and participate in post-secondary education
- Canadians receive financial support during employment transitions such as job loss, illness, or maternity/parental leave
- Canadians access education, training, and life-long learning supports to gain the skills and work experience they need
- Canadians participate in an inclusive and efficient labour market
- Clients receive high quality, timely and efficient services that meet their needs

Skills and employment

Skills and Employment are intended to ensure that Canadian labour market participants are able to access the supports that they need to enter or reposition themselves in the labour market to allow them to contribute to economic growth through full labour market participation. Initiatives within this program activity contribute to the common overall objectives of promoting skills development, labour market participation and ensuring labour market efficiency.

3.1 Employment Insurance

Employment Insurance provides temporary income support to unemployed Canadians while they look for work or upgrade their skills. It also supports those who must take time off work due to illness, pregnancy, to care for a newborn or adopted child, to care for a critically ill child or to provide or arrange care for a family member who is seriously ill with a significant risk of death. Under the authority of Part II of the Employment Insurance Act, programs are in place to help Canadians prepare for, find and keep employment. Employment Insurance benefits are funded by premiums collected from employers and employees. In addition, self-employed people who have opted into the Employment Insurance (EI) program for special benefits contribute the employee portion of premiums.

3.2 Labour Market Development Agreements

Labour Market Development Agreements are established under Part II of the Employment Insurance Act to help Canadians find and keep employment and to develop a skilled labour force that meets the needs of employers. These agreements provide annual program and administration funding to provinces and territories annually for them to design and deliver employment benefits and support measures. Employment benefits, such as skills development, self-employment supports and wage subsidies, are offered to unemployed insured participants, that is, current and former EI claimants (in the last five years) as well as individuals who have made minimum EI premium contributions in at least five of the last ten years. Employment assistance services are available to all Canadians.

- Labour Market Development Agreements \(CoR\)
 - Employment Benefits, Support Measures and Other Programs \(PIB\)

3.3 Workforce Development Agreements

The Workforce development Agreements transfer funding annually to provinces and territories to support skills training and employment programs with a focus on those further removed from the labour market and those wishing to upskill. Programs funded under these agreements can assist individuals regardless of their employment status. Individuals who are unemployed, underemployed, employed or self-employed can receive supports to upskill and/or reorient their careers and to ultimately find and/or maintain employment. These agreements include specific funding targeted for persons with disabilities, and can also be used to support members of underrepresented groups such as Indigenous peoples, youth, older worker, and newcomers to Canada. Employers seeking to train current or future employees to fill available jobs or enhance the skills of their workforce can also receive support through these agreements.

Opportunities Fund for Persons with Disabilities

The Opportunities Fund for Persons with Disabilities helps Canadians with disabilities to prepare for, obtain and maintain employment. It supports people with disabilities in overcoming barriers to participation in the Canadian labour market, and it supports employers to hire people with disabilities. This program supports a wide range of programs and services, including job search supports, skills development, wage subsidies and employer awareness initiatives to encourage employers to hire people with disabilities. The Opportunities Fund is delivered across the country by Service Canada Centres, in partnership with organizations in the community.

3.5 Youth Employment and Skills Strategy

The Youth Employment and Skills Strategy (YESS) helps youth aged 15 to 30 gain the skills, career information and work experience they need to find and maintain employment. The YESS is delivered collaboratively by 11 federal departments and agencies through three programs: the Youth Employment and Skills Strategy Program (YESSP), Canada Summer Jobs (CSJ) program, and Goal Getters.

- YESSP offers a range of supports and services to help youth access training and work experience opportunities that range in intensity and duration.
- CSJ provides wage subsidies to employers, including not-for-profit organizations, public-sector employers, and small private sector employers to create quality summer employment opportunities.
- Goal Getters works with organizations to encourage youth facing barriers to complete high school and transition to post-secondary education and/or employment. It helps youth consider future educational and employment opportunities at an earlier age as a way to improve their future labour market integration.

The YESS is delivered nationally, regionally and locally through funding instruments such as contribution agreements and direct delivery methods.

- Youth Employment and Skills Strategy \(CoR\)
 - Youth Employment and Skills Strategy \(PIB\)

3.6 Targeted Initiative for Older Workers

The Targeted Initiative for Older Workers is a federal-provincial/territorial cost-shared initiative that provides unemployed older workers (normally between the ages of 55 and 64 with employment assistance services, skills upgrading and work experience to reintegrate into the workforce and/or increase their employability. The Initiative assists unemployed older workers in small communities of 250,000 or less that are experiencing high unemployment, significant downsizing/closures, unfulfilled employer demand and/or skills mismatches. Under this program, provinces and territories are responsible for identifying specific communities for participation in the Initiative, designing and delivering projects, and monitoring and reporting on projects. All projects must include employment assistance activities such as résumé writing, interview techniques, counselling and job search techniques and at least two employability improvement activities, such as prior learning assessment, skills training, work experience or preparation for self-employment. The Government of Canada's investment in the Initiative complements other funding provided through various labour market transfers to provinces and territories to help Canadians obtain the training they need to secure employment, including the Canada Job Fund Agreements, Labour Market Development Agreements and Labour Market Agreements for Persons with Disabilities.

3.7 Enabling Fund for Official Language Minority Communities

The Enabling Fund for Official Language Minority Communities (EF-OLMC) aims to enhance the development and vitality of OLMCs. The EF-OLMC provides funding to a network of 14 organizations across Canada, with more than 130 employees in 50 locations. The organizations help OLMCs to strengthen their capacity in the areas of human resource and community economic development by providing local leadership, promoting partnerships, implementing projects, and leveraging networks for concerted action.

The EF-OLMC is ESDC's main program to meet its Official Languages Act obligation to enhance the vitality of the English and French linguistic minority communities in Canada and support and assist their development. It is also ESDC's main contribution under the Action Plan for Official Languages - 2018-2023: Investing in Our Future.

- Enabling Fund for Official Language Minority Communities \(CoR\)

3.8 Aboriginal Skills and Employment Training Strategy (2010 to 2018)

Indigenous communities have historically experienced significantly higher rates of unemployment, lower rates of labour force participation and higher rates of social assistance than other communities in Canada. The Aboriginal Skills and Employment Training Strategy (ASETS) was a network of over 80 Indigenous agreement holders with over 600 points of service across Canada. This network of Indigenous organizations designed and delivered labour market programming to meet the needs identified in their communities, in large part by working with employers and Indigenous individuals to ensure skills development and job training respond to local labour demand. Specific attention was given to working with partners in the private sector, educational institutions and other levels of government in demand-driven labour markets. ASETS was linked to the Employment Insurance Act, which enabled Indigenous groups to deliver programs similar to those established by Part II of the Act. ASETS was also linked to the First Nations and Inuit Child Care Initiative, which provided supports for childcare to assist First Nations and Inuit parents and caregivers accessing labour market programs. ASETS supported labour market obligations specified in treaty and self-government agreements that were in place with some Indigenous groups. The Aboriginal Skills and Employment Training Strategy network of agreement holders was used for the delivery of the First Nations Job Fund under the Income Assistance Reform. Transfer payments were managed through contribution agreements with Indigenous organizations.

 - Aboriginal Skills and Employment Training Strategy \(PIB\)

3.9 Indigenous Skills and Employment Training (ISET) Program

Indigenous communities have historically experienced significantly higher rates of unemployment, lower rates of labour force participation and higher rates of social assistance than other communities in Canada. Launched in 2019, the Indigenous Skills and Employment Training (ISET) program replaces the Aboriginal Skills and Employment Training Strategy (ASETS) with a co-developed, distinctions-based framework. With the overall objective of reducing the skills and employment gaps between Indigenous and non-Indigenous people, the ISET program supports a network of over 110 Indigenous service delivery organizations with over 650 points of service across Canada to design and deliver client-centred, job training services to First Nations, Inuit, Métis and urban/non-affiliated Indigenous people in their communities.

ISET service delivery organizations offer a variety of employment services based on the needs and priorities of First Nations, Inuit, Métis and urban/non-affiliated Indigenous people. They work closely with employers to identify labour market needs. Organizations link training needs to the job market by providing skills and training required to find a job such as: a suite of skills development and job training, from essential skills such as literacy and numeracy to more advanced training for in-demand jobs.

3.10 Skills and Partnership Fund (SPF)

The SPF is a strategic, partnership and project-based fund focused on training Indigenous Peoples for industry identified specific jobs that align with emerging labour market needs and government priorities. It supports collaboration between Indigenous organizations and employers to increase Indigenous employment in emerging economic opportunities and to respond to changes at the local, regional and national level.

- Skills and Partnership Fund \(CoR\)

3.11 First Nations Job Fund (2013 to 2017)

The youth population is growing in First Nation communities, along with high unemployment rates and high dependency on Income Assistance, especially with the on reserve population. The First Nations Job Fund aimed to provide recipients of First Nations Income Assistance who live on reserve with the personalized training necessary to access jobs. Beneficiaries were between 18 and 24 years of age, were able to work and were trainable within one year. Clients were referred to the Fund through Aboriginal Affairs and Northern Development Canada's Enhanced Service Delivery system. This program was delivered through the Aboriginal Skills and Employment Training Strategy delivery network.

Selected organizations worked with local training facilities and employers to ensure that Income Assistance recipients referred from the Enhanced Service Delivery system were provided with the training-to-employment and employment supports they needed to secure jobs. The Fund was one of two components of the First Nations Income Assistance Reform Initiative— a joint initiative between AANDC, that delivers the enhanced Service Delivery, and ESDC, that administers the First Nations Job Fund.

3.12 Job Bank

Job Bank provides timely and relevant labour market information on employment opportunities across Canada to help workers find suitable employment and help employers find suitable workers. This program targets employers, individuals (e.g. job seekers, unemployed Canadians, students, newcomers and potential immigrants), career practitioners (e.g. employment and vocational counselling organizations, education/learning institutions, and community organizations) and government analysts and decision-makers (including federal-provincial/territorial government organizations and programs, ESDC/Service Canada). Job Bank offers a free-to-use and bilingual online job board, delivered in collaboration with all provinces and territories, which allows employers to post available job opportunities and job seekers to search for jobs. In addition, the Web portal includes a variety of economic, labour market and demographic reports, including sectoral and occupational profiles and projections. This program is legislated by Employment Insurance Act subsections 60(1) and (2); section 58, subsection C of the National Employment Service (Employment Insurance Regulations); and the International Labour Organization Convention 88. Through the Forum of Labour Market Ministers, the Department collaborates closely with the provinces and territories. Together, jurisdictions share information and participate in projects that address areas of mutual interest and concern related to the development and delivery of labour market information.

3.13 Sectoral Initiatives Program

The Program supports sectors and employers to address current and future skills shortages by funding the development and distribution of sector-specific labour market intelligence, national occupational standards, and skills certification and accreditation systems. The Program also supports innovative skills training approaches. The objective of the Program is to help key sectors of the Canadian economy identify, forecast and address their human resources and skills issues.

3.14 Literacy and Essential Skills

The Office of Literacy and Essential Skills (OLES) supports Canadians to improve their workplace essential skills to help them better prepare for, obtain and keep a job and to adapt and succeed at work. OLES supports the integration of workplace essential skills into employment and training programs, which are funded in large part by provincial and territorial governments and through labour market programs supported by the Government of Canada.

- Literacy and Essential Skills \(CoR\)

3.15 Skilled Trades and Apprenticeship (Red Seal Program)

The Program works in partnership with the provinces and territories, who are responsible for apprenticeship training and trade certification in their jurisdictions, as well as industry, to develop national standards for each of the 56 designated Red Seal trades. The objective of the Program is to facilitate the labour mobility of tradespeople. Red Seal certification allows tradespeople to work anywhere in Canada without the need to re-validate their credentials from province-to-province or territory.

- Skilled Trades and Apprenticeship \(Red Seal Program\) \(CoR\)

3.16 Apprenticeship Grants

The Program provides grants (up to $4,000 for all apprentices and up to $8,000 for women in trades where they are under-represented) to eligible apprentices in designated Red Seal trades for completing their first and second year of their apprenticeship or upon receipt of their journeyman certification. The Program provides these grants through the Apprenticeship Incentive Grant, the Apprenticeship Incentive Grant for Women, and the Apprenticeship Completion Grant. The objective of the Program is to support entry/progression and completion/certification within an apprenticeship program in a designated Red Seal trade.

3.17 Foreign Credential Recognition Program

The Foreign Credential Recognition Program supports the labour market integration of skilled newcomers by: simplifying and harmonizing national credential recognition processes; providing loans and support services to help navigate foreign credential recognition processes; and helping highly skilled newcomers gain their first Canadian work experience in their profession/field of study. The objective of the Program is to support skilled newcomers and reduce barriers that keep them from fully participating in the Canadian labour market.

- Foreign Credential Recognition \(CoR\)

3.18 Temporary Foreign Worker Program

The objective of the Temporary Foreign Worker (TFW) Program is to provide Canadian employers with access to temporary foreign workers when qualified Canadians or permanent residents are not available and ensure that foreign workers are protected. The Program is jointly administered by three departments: Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC); Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC); and the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA). The TFW Program is legislated through the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act (IRPA) and its regulations (IRPR). ESDC works closely with IRCC, CBSA and the Provinces and Territories to monitor and share information related to the integrity of the TFW Program. The TFW Program administers a robust compliance regime, including on-site inspections to maintain program integrity and protect foreign workers.

Learning

Learning Branch is responsible for two major statutory programs:

- Canada Student Loans Program
- Canada Education Savings Program

The Canada Student Loans Program aims to improve access to, and affordability of, post-secondary education, including apprenticeship programs, by providing supports to eligible students through loans and to eligible apprentices with demonstrated financial need through grants, loans and repayment assistance measures. This program also provides non-repayable grants that are targeted to students from low- and middle-income families, students with permanent disabilities, students with dependents and part-time students from low-income families.

Through the Canada Education Savings Program, the Government encourages Canadians to use Registered Education Savings Plans (RESP) to save for a child's post-secondary education. The Government offers two education savings incentives linked to RESPs: The Canada Education Savings Grant (CESG) which is available to all eligible Canadians, with higher CESG rates (termed "Additional CESG") for children from middle- and low-income families; and the Canada Learning Bond (CLB) which is available for children from low-income families, born in 2004 or later and up to the age of 15, with no requirement that personal contributions be made.

Together, these programs help make post-secondary education more accessible to all Canadians. These programs help families save for their children's education, provide financial assistance in the form of repayable loans and non-repayable grants to students, and ensure that debt loads are manageable. ESDC promotes the communication of information to support informed education and labour market choices that help secure good-quality jobs. ESDC works in collaboration with the provinces and territories, the voluntary sector, financial institutions, service providers and other key stakeholders to help Canadians pursue post-secondary education.

3.19 Canada Student Loans Program

The Canada Student Loans Program provides repayable loans and non-repayable grants to help Canadians finance their participation in post-secondary education. Recipients of these loans and grants include full- and part-time students, students from low- and middle-income families, students with dependents and students with permanent disabilities. The Program also offers apprenticeship loans targeting apprentices registered in a Red Seal trade to help cover the cost of technical training. Apprentices registered in a Red Seal trade apprenticeship are able to apply for loans of up to $4,000 per period of technical training. Students and apprentices who receive loans also have access to debt management measures if they are experiencing financial difficulty in repaying their loans. These are managed in partnership with the participating provinces and territories, educational institutions and agencies, financial aid administrators, financial institutions and a service provider. Activities are enabled by the Canada Student Financial Assistance Act, the Canada Student Loans Act and the Canada Apprentice Loans Act and related Regulations. Provinces and territories that do not participate in this program are provided with an alternative payment to fund similar programs and services.

3.20 Canada Education Savings Program

The Government of Canada encourages Canadians to use Registered Education Savings Plans (RESP) to save for a child's post-secondary education. RESP savings grow tax-free until they are withdrawn to pay for full or part-time studies at a trade school, CEGEP, college, or university, or in an apprenticeship program.

Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC) administers two education savings incentives linked to RESPs: The Canada Education Savings Grant (CESG) and the Canada Learning Bond (CLB):

- I. The CESG consists of a basic grant of 20% on the first $2,500 in annual personal contributions to an RESP (this grant is available to all Canadians regardless of their family income), as well as an Additional amount of CESG, which consists of:

10% on the first $500 of annual personal contributions for children from families with a net income between $48,535* and $97,069*; or, 20% on the first $500 of annual personal contributions for children from families with net incomes of $48,535* or less.

*Net family income levels are subject to annual indexing for inflation.

The CESG is available until the calendar year in which the beneficiary turns 17, and the maximum lifetime amount, including the additional amount of CESG, is $7,200.

- II. The CLB is available for children from low-income families born in 2004 or later and provides an initial payment of $500 plus $100 for each year of eligibility, up to age 15, for a maximum of $2,000. Personal contributions are not required to receive the CLB.

These incentives are delivered through agreements with financial institutions, banks, mutual fund companies, and scholarship foundations.

4. Work conditions and relations

Description

- Promotes safe, healthy, fair and inclusive work conditions and cooperative workplace relations

Departmental results

- Work conditions are fair and inclusive.
- Labour relations are cooperative.
- Workplaces are safe and healthy.
- Clients receive high quality, timely and efficient services that meet their needs

4.1 Labour Relations

The Labour Relations Program includes the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, which promotes cooperative labour relations between unions and employers in federally regulated workplaces. This encompasses: banking; telecommunications; broadcasting; air, interprovincial rail, road and pipeline transportation; shipping; uranium mining; grain handling; along with workplaces in the territories, aboriginal public administration and some Crown Corporations. Through Section 70.1 of the Canada Labour Code, the service has responsibility for assisting employers and unions in the negotiation and renewal of collective agreements and the management of relations resulting from their implementation. Program activities include: mediation and conciliation assistance to parties to resolve collective bargaining disputes; dispute prevention skills training; facilitation services; grievance mediation; provision of advice to the Minister of Labour on a range of industrial relations issues; and mediation assistance to artists and producers in the negotiation of scale agreements under the Status of the Artist Act.

4.2 Occupational Health and Safety

The role of the Program is to ensure that workplaces in the federal jurisdiction are safe and healthy by working to reduce the number of work-related injuries and illnesses. Employers within the federal jurisdiction include those within industries such as: banking; rail, air and road transportation; marine shipping; many First Nations activities; federal Crown corporations; broadcasting and telecommunications; and the parliamentary precinct. The development of and amendments to legislation and regulations under Part II (Occupational Health and Safety) of the Canada Labour Code and the Non-Smoker's Health Act are the responsibility of the program, which ensures that workplaces are safe and able to keep up with the demands of the evolving workforce. The program also operates to create workplaces free from harassment and through a new Part IV of the Code promote ongoing compliance. It creates tools to increase awareness of health and safety issues and assist employers and employees to understand their duties and rights under the Code, conducts inspections and investigations, issues directions and can initiate prosecutions to enforce compliance with the Code. It also funds: a grant to support federal workplace health and safety objectives linked to Part II of the Code and a Grant and Contribution program to promote and co-develop labour management resources to reduce harassment and violence in the workplace.

4.3 Federal Workers' Compensation

The Federal Workers' Compensation Service (FWCS) of the Labour Program is responsible for administering the Government Employee Compensation Act (GECA). The Act provides compensation benefits such as medical expenses, treatments and wage replacement to federal employees for workplace injuries and occupational illnesses. Based on Service Agreements with the Minister of Labour, the provincial workers' compensation boards (WCBs) are responsible for the adjudication of workers' compensation claims for federal government employees, for providing benefits and services such as payment of medical expenses, wage replacement, and for facilitating return to work. Once claims are adjudicated, (WCBs) charge the Labour Program for claim related costs plus administration fees. The Labour Program recovers these costs from employers from which the claims occurred. Federal government employers must provide all of their employees with a safe work environment and deal with workplace injuries in a timely manner. Where an occupational injury or illness requiring professional medical care (beyond first aid) occurs, employers are expected to report that injury or illness within three days of being made aware. Employees covered by the GECA have the responsibility to work with their employer, their WCB and FWCS as they submit their claim for compensation and work towards their recovery and reintegration back into the workplace.

4.4 Labour Standards

This program seeks to support fair and equitable workplaces through the administration and enforcement of labour standards (Part III of the Canada Labour Code) that define minimum conditions of employment in the federal jurisdiction. The program also develops educational materials to assist employers and employees in understanding their obligations and rights; provides advice to employers and employees who have questions about their responsibilities and rights; investigates complaints of possible violations of Part III; responds to violations with compliance and enforcement tools; and engages in proactive inspections of employer records to verify compliance, while targeting those employers with a history of non-compliance. Note that adjudicative functions for unjust dismissal complaints and wage recovery appeals will be transferred to the Canada Industrial Relations Board in this fiscal year.

- Labour Standards \(CoR\)
 - Canada Labour Code, Part III: Labour Standards \(PIB\)

4.5 Workplace Equity

Workplace Equity comprises three programs. The Legislated Employment Equity Program promotes, supports and enhances employment equity outcomes for four designated groups – women, Aboriginal peoples, persons with disabilities and members of visible minorities – in federally regulated private-sector employers, Crown corporations and other federal organizations that have 100 or more employees and fall under the Employment Equity Act. The Federal Contractors Program ensures that contractors who have a combined workforce in Canada of 100 or more employees and have received initial federal government goods and services contract valued at $1 million or more achieve and maintain a workforce that is representative of the Canadian workforce. Workplace Opportunities: Removing Barriers to Equity is a grant and contribution program designed to support employers subject to the Act in their efforts to improve designated group representation in areas of low representation through the development of partnerships and industry-tailored strategies. Workplace Opportunities: Removing Barriers to Equity is one of three funding streams that fall under the Terms and Conditions of the Labour Funding Program. Workplace Equity is responsible for Workplace Opportunities: Removing Barriers to Equity project assessments, approvals, and monitoring.

- Workplace Equity \(CoR\)
 - Workplace Equity \(PIB\)

4.6 International Labour Affairs

This program seeks to improve labour standards internationally and to protect Canadian workers and employers from unfair competition from other countries with poor labour standards or lax labour law enforcement. The program negotiates international labour standards that reflect Canadian values and oversees Canada's participation in international labour forums. This program also promotes fundamental labour rights internationally to support equitable growth and social stability in developing countries, protect human rights and contribute to reducing the growing global divide between rich and poor. The program negotiates and implements the labour provisions of free trade agreements (LPFTAs) and provides technical assistance to partner countries.

- International Labour Standards \(CoR\)
- Bilateral and Regional Labour Cooperation \(CoR\)

4.7 Wage Earner Protection Program

This program is designed to reduce the economic insecurity of Canadian workers in all labour jurisdictions who are owed unpaid wages and vacation, termination and severance pay when their employer files for bankruptcy or becomes subject to a receivership. Individuals can receive an amount of up to seven weeks' maximum insurable earnings under the Employment Insurance Act. Service Canada's delivery of the Wage Earner Protection Program (WEPP) involves answering program queries by telephone, online, and at in-person points of service; collecting and processing applications; issuing notifications of initial payments or non-payment decisions; collecting and transferring requests for ministerial review; collecting and transferring appeal requests; and monitoring claims for accuracy. Applicants who disagree with an initial eligibility decision can request a review by the Minister within 30 days of the decision and file a request for appeal within 60 days of the review decision. When eligible individuals receive payments under the Wage Earner Protection Program Act (WEPPA), they sign over their rights as creditors of the employer to the federal government to the extent of the WEPP payment. Appeals, which are based solely on questions of law or jurisdiction, are submitted directly to the Canada Industrial Relations Board.

5.1 Service Network Supporting Government Departments

This program supports Government of Canada programs by ensuring that Canadians have the information necessary to make informed choices about available programs and services, and the tools to access them, while supporting migration to preferred service channels. Canadians are able to access information about ESDC and other Government of Canada programs and services in the most accessible and convenient way, have their questions answered quickly and accurately receive and be directed to the information or service they need. Under this program, information and services are delivered to Canadians through the Internet, 1 800 O-Canada and its customized telephone services as well as through an in-person service delivery network.

5.2 Government of Canada Telephone General Inquiries Services

The Government of Canada telephone general enquiries services supports Canadians and other clients through 1 800 O-Canada as well as its customized information services. 1 800 O- Canada provides a single point of contact to access quick, up-to-date government information over the phone. It acts as the first point of contact for general information on all Government of Canada programs, services and initiatives; it supports key government priorities and messaging including those outlined in the Budget and Speech from the Throne; and it supports the Government's communication needs in crisis situations. Customized information services provide support for programs and services that require a service delivery partner to meet their communication needs to Canadians and other clients, which can include ongoing requirements, targeted campaigns and temporary needs in crisis situations. Canadians who require specialized or client-specific information on programs are connected or are directed to appropriate online resources, program call centres or in-person resources.

- Channel Management (CoR)
 - Call Centre Operations (PIB)

5.3 Government of Canada Internet Presence

The Government of Canada Internet presence supports Canadians by providing easy, fast and convenient access to information and services online. Through Service Canada, ESDC is the principal publisher for a single Government of Canada website, Canada.ca. The site provides an enhanced user experience; citizen-centric, theme- based content; and a common and enhanced Government of Canada search.

Canadians can locate detailed information on the programs and services offered through ESDC, as well as general information on all Government of Canada programs and services. Through Service Canada, ESDC also provides a simple and secure online portal for Canadians to bring together a number of services and allow clients to, among other things, view and update their personal information and transact securely with ESDC.

5.4 In-person Service Delivery Network

In-person service delivery network supports the delivery of services and information for the Government of Canada. They provide information on how to self-serve; client authentication and identification; and services for clients who require one-on-one assistance. Canadians who require specialized or client-specific information for programs like Passport, Employment Insurance, the Canada Pension Plan or Old Age Security are directed to appropriate online resources and program call centres.

Canadians have access to in-person service delivery network within reasonable distances from where they live through Service Canada Centres and scheduled outreach locations.

5.5 Delivery of Services for Other Government of Canada Programs

This program provides service delivery, oversight and monitoring on behalf of other government department programs through service delivery agreements. It provides Canadians access to a range of Government of Canada programs, benefits and services in person, by phone, by mail and over the Internet through the provision of basic and detailed program and service information; application intake and review for completeness; client authentication and validation of identity documents; quick and direct access to specialized agents in other departments; and provision of space in the service delivery network for other departments. It enables a move from department and program siloes to the achievement of a seamless service delivery network, resulting in timelier, accurate and cost-effective service delivery to Canadians.

- Common Experience Payment (CoR)
 - Common Experience Payment (PIB)

5.6 Passport

Service Canada delivers domestic Passport services for the Passport Program on behalf of Immigration Refugees and Citizenship Canada. Service Canada is also the primary provider of passport service delivery for applications received from the United States, Bermuda, American Samoa, Midway Islands, Puerto Rico and US Virgin Islands. The functions include provision of information, intake of applications, validation of identity, collection of fees, admissibility and eligibility, production of passports for passports applications submitted in Canada and abroad, distribution to eligible applicants, social media messaging and response to client enquiries and complaints relating to service delivery.

- Passport Service (CoR)
 - Passport Service (PIB)

5.7 Other Government Department Programs

Services provided on behalf of other Government of Canada programs include: assistance to Canadians; provision of basic and detailed program and service information; application intake and review for completeness; client authentication and validation of identity documents; quick and direct access to specialized agents in other government departments; and provision of space in the service delivery network for other departments.

Classes of personal information

Provincial personal information supplied to ESDC

Employment and Social Development Canada may obtain provincial personal information pertaining to various programs administered by provinces if applicable information sharing agreements are in place.

Currently, ESDC has information sharing agreements with the provinces whereby ESDC exchanges Employment Insurance data with selected interested provinces in return for data on social assistance. The Canada Social Transfer supports social assistance programs, which are administered by provinces and territories.

In the course of carrying out EI-related policy analysis, research and evaluation activities, departmental Project Authorities may make use of personal information pertaining to provincial social assistance recipients that is collected in accordance with applicable provincial laws and made available to ESDC by various provinces. This personal information may include, for example, age, gender, marital and/or family status, number of dependents, benefits paid and other sources of income. All such provincially collected personal information is transmitted securely to the Data Development Unit of ESDC, where it is anonymized. The ESDC Project Authorities who are provided access to the anonymized information for their approved/authorized Policy Analysis, Research and Evaluation activities are not able to identify individuals.

The purpose of this personal information is to improve the effectiveness of EI programming and to ensure that federal labour market and labour-market-related income support policies and programs are developed and implemented in a manner consistent with national economic and social goals. Masked provincially collected and supplied social assistance administrative data may be shared with ESDC employees and their duly authorized contractors to undertake approved/authorized ESDC Policy Analysis, Research and Evaluation activities in support of this purpose.

Privacy Impact Assessments

To assure Canadians that privacy principles are being taken into account when there are proposals for, and during the design, implementation and evolution of programs and services that raise privacy issues by:

prescribing the development and maintenance of Privacy Impact Assessments; and routinely communicating the results of Privacy Impact Assessments to the Privacy Commissioner of Canada and the public.

Privacy Impact Assessments provide a framework to ensure that privacy is considered throughout the design or re-design of programs or services. The assessments will identify the extent to which proposals comply with the provisions of the Privacy Act, regulations and Treasury Board Directive on Privacy Impact Assessment. Assessments assist managers and decision-makers to avoid or mitigate privacy risks and promote fully informed policy, program and system design choices.

Public summaries: Privacy impact reports

Subsection 5(2) of the Privacy Act requires government institutions to notify individuals of the intended uses, consistent uses and disclosure of personal information when it is being collected. To complement this requirement and to promote a broader understanding of how privacy issues related to the program or service have been addressed, institutions must make summaries of the results of their Privacy Assessments available to the public.

Individuals who have applied for or are receiving EI benefits; individuals who may share the benefits, when applicable; family members (adult or child) who are critically ill or injured; family members who are seriously ill with a significant risk of death; employers; and medical professionals who provide information when needed.

Purpose

Personal information is used to administer the EI program and to determine eligibility and entitlement to benefits. It can also be used to assess continued entitlement or to establish overpayment if new or updated information reveals that individuals have received amounts to which they were not entitled. The information can be used to respond to any enquiries from Employment Insurance and ERB clients. The authority to collect personal information is provided in subsections 48 (2), 50 (1), 50 (5), and 153.8 (3) (4) of the Employment Insurance Act. The SIN is collected under section 138 and 153.12 of the Employment Insurance Act to validate the identity of the individual applying for benefits.

Consistent uses

Personal Information may be shared with federal government institutions listed below according to legislation and/or signed information-sharing agreements. This information may be shared for the administration of Part II of the Employment Insurance Act and for the following purposes:

- for appeals processes with the Social Security Tribunal
- for imaging and storage, and for the issuance and management of benefit payment and entitlements (Public Services and Procurement Canada (PSPC) PIBs: Document Imaging Solution - PWGSC PCU 709 and Receiver General Payments - PWGSC PCU 712)
- to confirm accuracy of personal information using personal information under the control of the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) and for statistical, internal audit, and planning purposes (CRA PIB: Review and Control - CRA PPU 125)
- to determine eligibility, authorize payment, and ensure compliance for the CERB through Service Canada and the CERB through the CRA (Canada Revenue Agency PIB: Canada Emergency Response Benefit (CERB) - CRA PPU 640)
- for taxation purposes, selected information is provided to the CRA and Revenu Québec (CRA PIB: Individual Returns and Payment Processing - CRA PPU 005)

- for locating debtors to the Crown (CRA PIB: Individual Tax Arrears – Collection Action - CRA PPU 050)
- for statistical, analytical, and planning purposes (Statistics Canada PIB: Labour Force Survey - Stat Can PPU 015)
- for administering the Family Orders and Agreements Enforcement Assistance Act (Department of Justice Canada PIB: Family Orders and Agreements Enforcement Assistance - JUS PPU 125)
- for investigation of alleged EI fraud (Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) PIB: Case Records - RCMP PPU 005)

Personal Information may be shared within Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC). It may also be shared according to formal agreements and memoranda of understanding with provincial, territorial, municipal, and aboriginal governments, and third parties such as academics, research groups, or private-sector firms under specific contract to the Department, or to other government or contracted agencies. This information is used for the following purposes:

- to administer and enforce municipal, provincial, and territorial programs and coordinate benefit payment (such as the Quebec Parental Insurance Plan)
- to conduct research on the labour force, labour market, income support, and other related fields
- for policy formulation, planning, statistics, research, and evaluation
- within ESDC with the Labour Market Information program for analysis, research, and evaluation purposes
- within ESDC to analyze programs, develop and design program policy options, adjust strategies, emergency measures, reporting, and for pilot projects related to the EI program
- with employers to assist them with their responsibilities under the Employment Insurance Act.

Retention and disposal standards

Records are kept for 12 years. Information for self-employed special benefits is kept for 99 years after the first week for which EI was paid.

Registration for the Employment Insurance Measure for Self-Employed People (PIB)

Description

This bank describes information about individuals who voluntarily registered for, or opted out of, the Employment Insurance Measure for Self-Employed People, which provides coverage for Employment Insurance special benefits, that is, maternity, parental, sickness, compassionate care, family caregiver for children or family caregiver for adults to self-employed individuals. Personal information may include: name, Social Insurance Number, contact information, opt-in date, termination date and signature.

Note

In addition to the requirements specified on the Treasury Board of Canada Secretariat's Personal Information request form, individuals who request information described in this bank must provide the Social Insurance Number. In some instances, correspondence may be filed in the name of the individual's representative. In these cases, the name and address of the representative should also be included on the Record Access Request Form. The subject matter and date of the requested correspondence are also required. Information may be stored in an Oracle database within the My Service Canada Account and is viewable by authorized Service Canada employees through a specialized administration application.

Class of individuals

Self-employed persons who have registered for or opted out of the Employment Insurance Measure for Self-Employed People.

Purpose

Personal information is used for registration or termination processes related to coverage for Employment Insurance benefits for self-employed individuals. Registration for coverage into the program is voluntary for self-employed individuals. Therefore, Employment Insurance premiums on self-employment income are only collected from self-employed individuals who have entered into an agreement. The authority to collect the personal information is provided under subsection 152.07 (1) of the Employment Insurance Act. The Social Insurance Number is collected pursuant to subsection 28.1 (1) of the Department of Employment and Social Development Act. The authority to disclose information is provided under subsections 34. (1) and 35. (2) of the Department of Employment and Social Development Act, as well as a memorandum of understanding (information-sharing agreement) between ESDC and the Canada Revenue Agency.

Consistent uses

Information may be used or disclosed within ESDC to process claims related to this measure. Information may be disclosed for appeals to the Board of Referees or for appeals to the Social Security Tribunal. ESDC will inform the Canada Revenue Agency about individuals who have registered for or opted out from the Employment Insurance Measure for Self-Employed People in the previous year, which will allow CRA to determine the amount of Employment Insurance premiums payable for those individuals. This information is described in CRA institution-specific PIB Individual Returns and Payment Processing (CRA PPU 005). Information may be used or disclosed under agreement for policy analysis and evaluation purposes. Information may be used or disclosed under agreement for auditing, research, or statistical purposes.

Some information may be used or disclosed for enforcement and for reporting (that is, for statistical reporting on the number of self-employed people registering for or opting out of the measure). Personal information may be accessed and used to prevent and detect fraud or for possible investigations. Information may be shared with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for investigation of alleged Employment Insurance fraud. This information is described in RCMP institution-specific PIB Operational Case Records (RCMP PPU 005). It might also be shared internally. This information is described in ESDC institution-specific PIB Employment Insurance Program Investigations (ESDC PPU 171).

Personal information may include: name(s), surname(s), other surnames previously used and current legal name; sex/gender contact information, proof of identity and legal status in Canada, proof of address, and country or city and country of birth if outside Canada; other identification numbers; citizenship status; employment equity information; type of birth; whether a twin or a triplet; date of birth; date and place of death; death registration number in Canada; father's full name (if applicable); mother's full name (maiden surname at her birth)parent's name at birth; any cancelled SIN, issued, or reissued; date of application; effective or issue date; eligibility to work; document status (active or inactive and reason); signatures; relationship of representative to the applicant; expiry date for 900-series SIN; and account status and other annotations, such as administrative flags (such as death data) or notes. There may be situations (pre-1993 application forms) when the microfilmed copy contains marital status information and the name and address of the employer(s).

Note

- All requests for access must include: SIN; name; place and date of birth; family name at birth of the individual's mother; and the same documentary proof of identity as is required when submitting an application for a SIN.

Class of individuals

- Canadian citizens; Registered Indians; permanent residents; temporary residents and others who are authorized to work in Canada; mother and father of the applicant's parent's name at birth; representative of the applicant; and witnesses.

Purpose

- Personal information may be used to register persons pursuant to section 138 of the Employment Insurance Act, subsection 28.1 (1) of the Department of Employment and Social Development Act and section 98 of the Canada Pension Plan, and those on whose behalf a Social Insurance Number application has been received by the Canada Employment Insurance Commission (CEIC). Subsection 28.1 (2) of the Department of Employment and Social Development Act authorizes the CEIC to maintain a register containing the names of all persons registered and other information, as required, to accurately identify all persons so registered. Personal information may also be used in administering certain acts of Canada, such as the Employment Insurance Act and the Income Tax Act. Release of information from the Social Insurance Register is pursuant to the Department of Employment and Social Development Act for the accurate identification of individuals and for the effective use by those individuals of SINs.

Consistent uses

- The information may be used for investigation purposes or to validate Social Insurance Registry Register (SIR) records for administration and program benefits eligibility purposes by Social Insurance Number-based programs. Information and documentation provided in support of a SIN application may be verified and/or shared with federal departments and agencies that are authorized users of the SIN and in accordance with the Treasury Board of Canada Secretariat's Directive on Social Insurance Number for the administration of benefits and services. Information may also be shared with provincial departments and agencies for the administration of benefits and services and/or with federal and provincial departments for the administration and enforcement of the legislation for which they are responsible. Information from the SIR may be shared with Fisheries and Oceans Canada. This information is described in the Department of Fisheries and Oceans institution-specific PIB Financial Relief for Fishers (DFO PPU 036). It might also be shared with the Department of Justice Canada. This information is described in the JUS institution-specific PIB Family Orders and Agreements Enforcement Assistance (JUS PPU 125). It might also be shared with Veterans Affairs Canada. This information is described in the following VAC institution-specific PIBs: Canadian Forces Income Support (VAC PPU 608); Earnings Loss (VAC PPU 607); and War Veterans Allowance (VAC PPU 040). It might also be shared with Immigration Refugees and Citizenship Canada. This information is described in the following IRCC institution-specific PIBs; Query Response Centre Records (CIC PPU 056) and Application and Assessment for Canadian Citizenship (CIC PPU 050). Information from the SIR may be also shared with the Canada Border Services Agency. It might also be shared with the RCMP. This information is described in RCMP institution- specific PIB Operational Case Records (RCMP PPU 005). It might also be shared with the Canada Revenue Agency. This information is described in the following CRA institution-specific PIBs: Individual Returns and Payment Processing (CRA PPU 005); Criminal Investigations Program (CRA PPU 095); Disability Tax Credit Program (CRA PPU 218); Benefit Programs - Working Income Tax Benefit Program (CRA PPU 178); Goods and Services Tax/Harmonized Sales Tax Credit (GST/HST credit) (CRA PPU 140); and Canada Child Tax Benefit Data Bank (CRA PPU 063).

- It may also be shared internally within the ESDC institution-specific PIBs: Apprenticeship Grants (ESDC PPU 297); Student Financial Assistance (ESDC PPU 030); Canada Education Savings Program (ESDC PPU 506); Canada Disability Savings Program (ESDC PPU 038); Government Annuities (ESDC PPU 395); Wage Earner Protection Program (ESDC PPU 035); the Canada Pension Plan Program (ESDC PPU 146); and the Old Age Security Program (ESDC PPU 116). It may also be shared with Statistics Canada; Retraite Québec; Régie de l'assurance-maladie du Québec; Ministère du revenu du Québec; and the Commission des normes, de l'équité, de la santé et de la sécurité au travail. Information and documentation to support a SIN application may also be verified with the provincial/territorial vital statistics registers and/or with Immigration Refugees and Citizenship Canada. The SIN could also be shared with an employer or former employer who has lost contact with an employee but requires the employee's SIN to meet legal requirement. Information may also be used and/or disclosed for policy analysis, research, and/or evaluation purposes, and may be linked to various sources of information under the custody and control of ESDC. Information may be shared with provincial government departments and third parties administering programs when data-sharing agreements are in place to conduct research into the labour force, labour market, income support, and other related fields, and it may be provided to academics, research groups, or private-sector firms under specific contract to the Department, or to other government or contracted agencies under terms of memoranda of understanding, for policy formulation, planning, statistics, research, and evaluation purposes. Information may also be shared within ESDC with the Labour Market Information program for analysis, research and evaluation purposes.

Retention and disposal standards

- Paper-based SIN application forms are destroyed immediately after microfilming, but the application form is entered electronically into the SIR. Requests made through electronic means (such as Social Insurance Number Rapid Access and Newborn Registration Service) do not require a paper-based application form. Therefore, there is no microfilmed copy. Microfilmed copies and electronic applications are retained for 100 years.
- Electronic web-based SIN applications' retention and disposition schedule are under development.

Job Bank (PIB)

Description

This bank describes information required for the administration and enforcement of certain labour exchange services on Job Bank. Personal information may include: name, contact information, biographical information, mother's maiden name, date of birth, educational information, employment equity information, SIN, Express Entry credentials and business information.

Class of individuals

Individuals from the general public including job seekers, employers, and third party representatives, who register on Job Bank to use its labour exchange services.

Purpose

Personal information is used to support the administration, delivery, and enforcement of the labour exchange services delivered through ESDC's Job Bank website. In particular, the information is used to create and authenticate a Job Bank user account, as well as a job seeker profile and/or an employer file for the purpose of connecting real job seekers with real employers. Personal information is collected pursuant to subsections 60. (1) and 60. (2) of the Employment Insurance Act and supplemented by sections 58 and 59 of the Employment Insurance Regulations as well as subsection 34. (2) of the Department of Employment and Social Development Act. Certain personal information is used to determine eligibility for Job Bank for Job Seekers or Job Bank for Employers services. This information is authenticated by cross-referencing the Social Insurance Registry (ESDC PPU 390) in the case of Canadian users or the Express Entry system (CIC PPU 042) in the case of Express Entry users.

Social Insurance Numbers (SINs)

The SIN is used during registration of a Job Bank user account to confirm the user's identity and eligibility through a cross-reference check with the Social Insurance Registry. After this step, the SIN is erased from the system. It is not used for any other purpose and is not retained. The SIN is collected pursuant to the Employment Insurance Act, which is one of the authorized purposes for the collection or use of the SIN and is identified as such under the Treasury Board Directive on Social Insurance Number.

Consistent uses

The information may be used or disclosed for the purposes of enforcement, reporting and evaluation. In terms of enforcement, the information included on Job Bank may be used or disclosed to authenticate and cross-check business information provided to the Integrity Services Branch. It may be shared with Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC) to support and facilitate the administration of federal and provincial immigration programs. Personal information elements could potentially be cross-referenced to ensure program eligibility and integrity with the following ESDC institution-specific PIBs: Employment Insurance Databank (ESDC PPU 501); Temporary Foreign Worker Program (ESDC PPU 440); Employment Insurance Program Investigation (ESDC PPU 171); Insurance Claim File - Local Office (OPS) (ESDC PPU 150). Additionally, personal information may be shared with the RCMP and/or provincial governments for the administration and enforcement of federal, provincial, territorial or municipal legislation related to labour, employment, social benefits, immigration and occupational health and safety. This information is described in RCMP institution-specific PIB Operational Case Records (RCMP PPU 005).

The personal information is used to administer the International Mobility Program inspections on behalf of IRCC by collecting information and documents from IMP employers, interviewing employers, employees and foreign workers, conducting on-site inspections, and submitting summaries of fact findings to IRCC to render decisions of employer compliance or non-compliance. The International Mobility Program operates under the authority of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act and the Immigration and Refugee Protection Regulations. IRCC has been authorized to leverage Service Canada's/ISB's existing inspection capacity to assist IRCC in conducting inspections on employers using the IMP.

The personal information is collected pursuant to the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act (IRPA) and the Immigration and Refugee Protection Regulations (IRPR), and the Privacy Act. The authority to disclose information is provided under subsections 34 (1) and 35 (1) of the Department of Employment and Social Development Act and through established Information Sharing Agreements.

Consistent uses

The personal information may be used or disclosed for enforcement purposes; reporting to senior management and the minister's office; and reporting to IRCC for rendering decisions. This activity is described in IRCC institution-specific PIB Temporary Foreign Worker Records and Case File (IRCC PPU 054). It may also be used or disclosed for safety of foreign workers and workplace; security of foreign workers and workplace; evaluation of employers' compliance with the IMP requirements; evaluation of program use and the compliance framework; research; policy analysis. The information may be published on the Employment and Social Development Canada and IRCC Internet Websites. The information may be shared with the Canada Border Services Agency for the purposes of issuance of work permits, confirmation of permanent residency, foreign workers departures from Canada, inspections/investigations and enforcement of IRPA and IRPR. This activity is described in CBSA institution-specific PIB Temporary Foreign Worker Program (CBSA PPU 050). It may also be shared with the City Police/Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) for investigative purposes. This activity is described in RCMP institution-specific PIB Operational Case Records (RCMP PPU 005). It may be shared with Provincial and Territorial Governments and with the Temporary Foreign Worker Program (TFWP) to deter non-compliance and prevent misuse of the IMP and TFWP. This activity is described in ESDC institution-specific PIB Temporary Foreign Worker Program (ESDC PPU 440).

Canada Education Savings Program (PIB)

Description

This bank describes personal information required to process an application for education savings incentives, including the Canada Education Savings Grant (CESG), the Canada Learning Bond (CLB), and any federally administered provincial education savings incentives. This bank also describes personal information received as part of an Education Savings Referral Service (ESRS) for the promotion of RESPs and federal education savings incentives. The personal information may include: name; contact information; sex; date of birth; Social Insurance Number (SIN); date of death; country of residence; language preference; financial information related to RESPs; and post-secondary information, including academic year, type of program and postal code of the institution.

Note

Individuals who request access to information described in this bank must provide their SIN. Additional information including address and contract identification number of the RESP may be requested of individuals before access is granted. All personal information is stored in the CESG system.

Class of individuals

Subscribers; primary caregivers and their cohabitating spouse or common-law partner, beneficiaries of RESP and parents of newborns participating in the ESRS through their province's or territory's birth registry.

Purpose

Personal information is used to administer the Canada Education Savings Act (CESA) and to deliver funds for federally administered provincial education savings incentives. Personal information is collected pursuant to the Department of Employment and Social Development Act and the CESA and the Canada Education Savings Regulations, which govern the payment and administration of the CESG and the CLB held in RESPs. Through the ESRS, the provincial and/or territorial government collects personal information through a newborn registry or similar service on behalf of ESDC for the promotion of RESPs and the federal education savings incentives, pursuant to subsection 3.1 of the CESA. Personal information is also collected on behalf of the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) for the administration of subsection 146.1 of the Income Tax Act, which governs the use of the RESPs into which the Government of Canada may deposit the CESG and CLB. The SIN is collected pursuant to section 7 and sub-section 12.1 of the CESA and is used to assess eligibility for the CESG and the CLB, and to register an RESP with the CRA for tax purposes.

Consistent uses

Personal information may be shared to register RESPs with the CRA. This activity is described in the institution-specific CRA PIB Deferred Income and Savings Plans [CRA PPU 226]. It may be used to validate the identities of beneficiaries with Service Canada. This activity is described in the institution-specific ESDC PIB Social Insurance Number Register [ESDC PPU 390]. The information is used to validate eligibility for the CESG and the CLB. This activity is described in the institution-specific CRA PIB Canada Child Benefit Data Bank [CRA PPU 063]. The information is also used to inform primary caregivers of eligible children about the availability of educations savings incentives to which they may be entitled and for operational mailings to existing clients which may be carried out through an approved third party contractor. Through the ESRS, personal information is shared with RESP promoters with the consent of the parent of the newborn. The chosen RESP promoter contacts the parent to provide information about RESPs and federal education savings incentives. Personal information is also used to produce aggregate statistical information to report on results, perform policy analysis, research and/or program evaluations. Personal information may also be used or disclosed for promotional activities. Promotional activities may be done with third parties. Personal information may be disclosed to Statistics Canada for statistical and research purposes. Statistics Canada's PIB is under development.

Retention and disposal standards

Canada Labour Code Part II - Occupational Health and Safety (PIB)

Description

This bank contains information that relates to the promotion of safe workplaces within the federal labour jurisdiction. The program collects, disseminates, and analyzes workplace information, and ensures compliance with occupational health and safety requirements under the Canada Labour Code, Part II. Personal information may include: name, contact information, biographical information, biometric information, citizenship status, criminal checks/history, date and place of birth, date and place of death, educational information, employee identification number, employment equity information, employee personnel information, medical information, other identification numbers, physical attributes, signature and autopsy reports.

Note

Individuals who request information from this bank must indicate the nature of the incident and where it took place, and provide a legal authority if they are acting on behalf of the account holder or estate.

Class of individuals

General public; full- and part-time employees from private and public sectors falling under federal or provincial jurisdictions; contractors and consultants to whom employers provide access to their workplace (or if services are retained by the Labour Program); a family member as employer or as witness during a health and safety investigation; other types of employees (employer's workforce is comprised of various types of employees); employees or employer representatives during an incident or death investigation conducted by health and safety officers.

Purpose

Personal information is used to administer Part II of the Canada Labour Code (the Code), Occupational Health and Safety; establish an inventory of high-risk employers and of non-compliant employers under Part II of the Code; obtain views and opinions on the incident or fatality investigated under Part II of the Code (fact-finding); provide services for the program or activity under Part II of the Code, such as the occupational health and safety counselling program or enforcement activities; and determine jurisdiction and/or employee-employer relationship before initiating an investigation or inspection under Part II of the Code. Personal information is collected pursuant to Part II of the Code.

Consistent uses

The information may be used or disclosed for the following purposes, in accordance with relevant legislation: enforcement; inventory of high-risk employers and of compliant and non-compliant employers under Part II of the Canada Labour Code; reporting to senior management; safety; security; and evaluation. Per memoranda of understanding, information may be shared with Transport Canada and the National Energy Board, which are respectively responsible for the application and enforcement of Part II of the Canada Labour Code on behalf of the Minister of Labour for on-board employees in an aircraft, a vessel, or rolling stock on a railway, and for employees in the federal oil and gas (pipeline industry) and in the frontier oil and gas sectors, excluding employees in those sectors in head and regional offices. This information is described in the following standard PIBs; Occupational Health and Safety (TC PSE 907) and (NEB PSE 907).

The information may also be shared with the provincial or territorial ministry of labour, police authorities, or the office of the chief coroner/medical examiner of the jurisdiction where a hazardous occurrence took place and only in accordance with Part 4 of the Department of Employment and Social Development Act. This information (except the autopsy report or other third-party information) can be communicated to the Occupational Health and Safety Tribunal Canada when necessary so that it can exercise its mandate to hear and determine appeals from decisions pursuant to subsection 129. (7) of the Canada Labour Code and appeals of directions submitted under section 146 of the Code in all sectors under jurisdiction of Part II, such as the air, rail, marine, and oil and gas sectors, the federal public service, and businesses such as international and interprovincial road transportation, banks, ferries and grain elevators.

Retention and disposal standards

The Labour Program's Record Disposition Authority (RDA) is currently under review. No record disposition is taking place during this process. The previous RDA required that records be retained for: 10 years after the last administrative action for incidents resulting from non-exposure to a hazardous substance (accident and occupational injury or illness investigation reports, including related correspondence and the supervisor's accident investigation report); 30 years after the last administrative action for incidents resulting from exposure to a hazardous substance (accident and occupational injury or illness investigation reports, including related correspondence and supervisor's accident investigation report); 5 years after the last administrative action for other non-archival operational records including, but not limited to, those listed in ESDC's Records Disposition Authority - Retention period.

Government Employees Federal Worker's Compensation (PIB)

Description

This bank describes information about individuals for whom a federal employer has reported an occupational injury or illness to the Labour Program under the Government Employees Compensation Act. Personal information collected may include: name, contact information, biographical information, employee identification numbers, employment equity information, employee personnel information, financial information, medical information, other identification numbers (such as health card number), date and place of birth, date and place of death, signature, Social Insurance Number, marital status and return to work schedules.

Note

Information is stored in the National Injury Compensation System and the Internet National Injury Compensation System (employers have access to data on their compensation claims only).

Class of individuals

Federal department and agency employees; interviewers; some Crown corporation employees; contractors/consultants; other types of employees (such as casual and term); employers; members of provincial workers' compensation boards; third parties; witnesses; spouses; dependants; beneficiaries, and representatives acting on behalf of individuals (such as lawyers and holders of a power of attorney).

Purpose

Personal information is used to determine the validity of claims, identify third parties responsible for occupational injuries or illnesses, identify treatment plans, facilitate return to work, determine monetary entitlement to compensation benefits as well as to the recovery of damages from a third party. Personal information is collected pursuant to the Government Employees Compensation Act. The Social Insurance Number is collected pursuant to subsection 237.1 of the Income Tax Act.

Consistent uses

Workers' compensation claims from federal employers are processed by the workers' compensation board (WCB) of the province in which the worker is usually employed. The Labour Program has a service agreement with each WCB to administer these claims. Accident reports for occupational injuries or illnesses are submitted by federal employers to the Labour Program, which subsequently submits them to the provincial workers' compensation board for adjudication. As prescribed by the Income Tax Act, an information slip "Statement of Benefits T5007" is also issued for the individual, and a copy is sent to the Canada Revenue Agency to declare workers' compensation benefits received in the taxation year. This information is described in the institution-specific CRA PIB Individual Returns and Payment Processing (CRA PPU 005). Documentation obtained as a result of a compensation claim, such as a claim's decision, medical report and appeal decision, may be shared between the WCB and ESDC, and the employer and employee, when applicable. When a third party is deemed responsible for an occupational injury or illness and the Crown is subrogated to the right of an individual, ESDC may take action against the third party, and information is shared with the third party or his/her representative (such as insurance companies) to negotiate a settlement in or out of court. Aggregate information may be used or disclosed for program development purposes in accordance with ESDC protocols for policy, analysis, research and evaluation activities.

Retention and disposal standards

Records are disposed of three years after a claim is settled. All paper files are destroyed after files have been microfilmed. Microfilms are retained for 100 years, and then destroyed.

Description

This bank describes information about individuals who have submitted a claim pursuant to the Public Service Income Benefit Plan for Survivors of Employees Slain on Duty. Survivors of a federal government employee killed by a violent act at work may be eligible for a guaranteed supplementary income benefit. The employer applies for this benefit on behalf of survivors, and the Labour Program administers the claims and pays benefits on behalf of the Treasury

Board of Canada Secretariat. Personal information collected may include: name, contact information, biographical information, citizenship status, date and place of birth, date and place of death, employment equity information, employee personnel information, medical information, signature and Social Insurance Number.

Note

Information is stored in the Workers Injury Compensation System (internal to the Federal Workers' Compensation Service).

Class of individuals

Federal department and agency employers and employees; spouses; dependants; and representatives acting on behalf of individuals (such as lawyers and holders of a power of attorney).

Purpose

Personal information is used to administer claims and to make benefit payments to eligible survivors and dependants. Personal information is collected pursuant to the Government Employee's Compensation Act and the Public Service Income Benefit Plan for Survivors of Employees Slain on Duty. The Social Insurance Number is collected pursuant to subsection 237.1 of the Income Tax Act.

Consistent uses

As prescribed by the Income Tax Act, an information slip "Statement of Benefits T5007" is issued for the individual, and a copy is sent to the Canada Revenue Agency to declare workers' compensation benefits received in the taxation year. This information is described in CRA institution-specific PIB Individual Returns and Payment Processing (CRA PPU 005). Aggregate information may be used or disclosed for program development purposes in accordance with the ESDC protocols for policy, analysis, research, and evaluation activities.

Retention and disposal standards

Records are disposed of three years after a claim is settled. All paper files are destroyed after files have been microfilmed. Microfilms are retained for 100 years, and then destroyed.

Compensation Program for Inmates of Federal Penitentiaries (PIB)

Description

This bank describes information about individuals who have submitted a worker's compensation claim pursuant to the Corrections and Conditional Release Regulations because of an occupational injury or illness. The Labour Program is responsible for the assessment of the disability on behalf of Correctional Service Canada, which pays benefits to eligible inmates of federal penitentiaries who are injured while registered in an approved program. The Labour Program receives and assesses all claims, makes recommendations related to permanent disability impairments and forwards them to Correctional Service Canada, which in turn uses that assessment to determine benefit entitlement and make payments. Personal information collected may include: name; contact information; biographical information; citizenship status; criminal checks/history; date and place of birth; date and place of death; financial information; medical information; other identification numbers; signature; and Social Insurance Number.

Note

Information is stored in the Workers Injury Compensation System (internal to the Labour Program).

Class of individuals

Federal inmates; witnesses; spouses; dependants; beneficiaries; and representatives acting on behalf of individuals (such as lawyers and holders of a power of attorney).

Purpose

Personal information is used to assess claims pursuant to the Corrections and Conditional Release Regulations and to make recommendations related to permanent disability impairments on behalf of Correctional Service Canada. Personal information is collected pursuant to section 127 of the Corrections and Conditional Release Regulations and section 18 of Department of Employment and Social Development Act. The Social Insurance Number is collected pursuant to subsection 237.1 of the Income Tax Act.

Consistent uses

Inmate applications for compensation are submitted to the Labour Program, which is responsible for evaluating occupational injuries and illnesses as per a memorandum of understanding with Correctional Service Canada. After assessing an injury, the Labour Program submits to Correctional Service Canada all documentation obtained in administering the claim, including the disability assessment report, for review. As prescribed by the Income Tax Act, an information slip "Statement of Benefits T5007" is issued for the individual, and a copy is sent to the Canada Revenue Agency to declare workers' compensation benefits received in the taxation year. This information is described in CRA institution-specific PIB Individual Returns and Payment Processing (CRA PPU 005). Aggregate information may be used or disclosed for program development purposes in accordance with the ESDC protocols for policy, analysis, research and evaluation activities.

Retention and disposal standards

Records are disposed of five years after a claim is settled. All paper files are destroyed after files have been microfilmed. Microfilms are retained for 100 years, and then destroyed.

Compensation Program for Merchant Seamen (PIB)

Description

This bank describes information about individuals who have submitted a worker's compensation claim pursuant to the Merchant Seamen Compensation Act, which provides that certain merchant seamen injured in work-related accidents can receive compensation for occupational injuries and illnesses. The Act also provides financial assistance for surviving dependants if a work-related injury results in the death of a seaman. Personal information collected may include: name; contact information; biographical information; citizenship status; date and place of birth; date and place of death; employment equity information; employee personnel information; medical information; signature; Social Insurance Number; and return to work schedule.

Note

Information is stored in the Workers Injury Compensation System (internal to the Labour Program).

Class of individuals

Merchant seamen; employers; witnesses; spouses; dependants; beneficiaries; and representatives acting on behalf of individuals (such as lawyers and holders of a power of attorney).

Purpose

Personal information is used to process claims and to determine monetary entitlement to compensation benefits. Personal information is collected pursuant to the Merchant Seamen Compensation Act. The Social Insurance Number is collected pursuant to subsection 237.1 of the Income Tax Act.

Consistent uses

Information relevant to a compensation claim submitted under the Merchant Seamen Compensation Act is shared with the individual's employer, except for medical information, unless the authorization to release such information is obtained from the individual. As prescribed by the Income Tax Act, an information slip "Statement of Benefits T5007" is issued for the individual, and a copy sent to the Canada Revenue Agency to declare workers' compensation benefits received in the taxation year. This information is described in CRA institution-specific PIB Individual Returns and Payment Processing (CRA PPU 005). Aggregate information may be used or disclosed for program development purposes in accordance with the ESDC's protocols for policy, analysis, research, and evaluation activities.

Workplace Equity (PIB)

Description

This Personal Information Bank (PIB) describes employment equity-related information about employers and their employees that are reported to the Labour Program through the Legislated Employment Equity Program (LEEP) and the Federal Contractors Program (FCP). For the LEEP, employers' workforce records are reviewed, consolidated and analyzed into an annual report that is made available to the public. For the FCP, employers' workforce records are assessed at pre-determined intervals (one year after award of an eligible contract and every three years thereafter) to ensure compliance with the program. Personal information may include: name, contact information and signature of employer/vendor and its representatives; identification number, work location, occupation, sector, employment status, annual salary, employment equity designated group membership and work history of employees; Agreement to Implement Employment Equity number, procurement business number and size of vendor; award date, description, number, type and value of contract; and other administrative information related to conducting FCP compliance assessments such as dates, type of assessment, results, gaps and goals to increase designated group representation.

Note

Individuals who request information described in this bank must provide their employee identification number. Information is stored in the Workplace Equity Information Management System (WEIMS).

Class of individuals

Full-time, part-time, casual and temporary employees of private-sector institutions; current and former employees; representatives acting on behalf of institutions; and private-sector employers (sole proprietors) including vendors and suppliers of goods and services to federal government departments and agencies.

Purpose

Personal information is used to administer the LEEP and FCP to determine whether employers are meeting their legislated obligations. Personal information is collected pursuant to: The Department of Employment and Social Development Act sections 18 and 34; Employment Equity Act sections 18, 19 and 42; Employment Equity Regulations sections 1 to 6 and 15 to 31; and Order in Council SI/96-94.

Consistent uses

Information may be used or disclosed for the following purposes: enforcement; reporting to senior management; evaluation; research; and meeting legislated obligations. As per subsection 18(10) of the Employment Equity Act, the following personal information from the LEEP may be shared with the Canadian Human Rights Commission: name and contact information of employer and its representatives; and work location, occupation, sector, employment status, annual salary, employment equity designated group membership and work history of employees (PIB under development). Both LEEP and FCP personal information may also be shared with Strategic Policy, Analysis and Workplace Information Directorate within the Labour Program to conduct research (Workplace Information (ESDC LAB 100) and Workplace Information, Collective Bargaining and Labour Organization Contacts (ESDC PPU 728)). Subject to sections 19 and 20 of the Employment Equity Act, individual statistical forms and aggregate annual employment equity reports filed by the LEEP employers are shared with the public. In addition, LEEP and FCP employers' contact information may be used or disclosed for mailing list purposes; included with regular program emails; and published on the Internet/Intranet.

Wage Earner Protection Program (PIB)

Description

This bank describes information about individuals involved in the Wage Earner Protection Program (WEPP). Personal information may include: SIN; name; contact information; preferred official language; biographical information; financial information; incorporation; registration and business numbers.

Note

To access records about the status of an application, a determination or a review, and appeal processes or decisions, the applicant must provide his or her SIN and name. Trustees must provide bankruptcy/receivership identification when requesting information from Service Canada. Information may be stored in the Common System for Grants and Contributions (CSGC) - Client Module and Interactive Fact Finding System. The CSGC (ESDC PPU 298) is now included in this PIB.

Class of individuals

Individuals whose employer is subject to bankruptcy or a receivership and who apply for the WEPP, as well as trustees, receivers, adjudicators, legal counsel, and other parties required to assist in the delivery of the WEPP.

Purpose

Personal information is used to administer and report on the WEPP, to determine applicant and employer eligibility, to support the review and appeal process, to disburse funds to individuals, trustees, and receivers, and to provide services that will support participation of, or payment to, other parties required to assist in the delivery of the WEPP. The authority to collect personal information is pursuant to the Wage Earner Protection Program Act and Regulations. The authority for the WEPP is provided in chapter 47 of the Statutes of Canada, 2005, as amended by chapter 36 of the Statutes of Canada, 2007. The authority to collect personal information and SIN for the purpose of administration of the WEPP is provided by sections 8 and 21(1)(d) of the WEPPA, and sections 15(1) of the WEPPR.

Consistent uses

Information may be shared with the Canada Revenue Agency for the administration of the Income Tax Act. This information is described in the institution-specific CRA PIB Review and Control (CRA PPU 125). It is also shared with Revenu Québec for the administration of its taxation act. Information may be shared with the Department of Justice Canada to administer the Family Orders and Agreements Enforcement Assistance Act. This information is described in the institution-specific JUS PIB Family Orders and Agreements Enforcement Assistance (JUS PPU 125). Information may be shared with Public Works and Government Services Canada for the issuance and management of benefit payments and entitlements. This information is described in PWGSC institution-specific PIB Receiver General Payments (PWGSC PCU 712).

Information may be shared with the provincial and territorial ministries of labour to administer and deliver their respective employment standards programs. Information is shared in accordance with the Employment and Social Development Act for the purpose of administering Part III of the Canada Labour Code. Information may also be used for policy analysis, research, evaluation, audit, or statistical purposes, and may be provided to contractors or other parties to undertake these activities. Most reporting on the WEPP consists of aggregated data, but some personal information such as a SIN may be released for activities such as audits.

Information may be shared with the Canada Industrial Relations Board in accordance with s.15 of the Wage Earner Protection Program Act, which requires the Minister to provide to the Board a copy of any document that the Minister relied on for the purpose of making a decision that is being appealed.

Description

This bank describes information related to processing applications for regular passports. Personal information may include: name (current and previous); date and place of birth; biographical information; photos; physical attributes; contact information; signature; payment information; proof of citizenship number; relationship status; proof of parentage; date and place of death; travel information; language; other identification numbers, including (numbers on proof-of-identification documents); Social Insurance Number (SIN); and supporting documentation (such as child custody court records, power of attorney or legal documents related to personal information); personal information of the guarantor which include name, date of birth, contact information, valid passport number, issue date and expiry date of the guarantor's passport.

Note

Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC) (and the former Passport Canada) collected the SIN in the past when it was provided as a document to support an individual's identity. That practice has ceased and the SIN is no longer collected; however, historical collections of the SIN may remain in records under the control of the Department.

Service Canada is responsible for domestic passport delivery on behalf of Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada. It provides both intake and processing functions for the Passport Program.

Class of individuals

Canadian citizens applying for passports; individuals who are guarantors or personal references; emergency contacts; parents, guardians, or the person who is authorized to apply for a passport for a child, representatives (e.g. holders of a power of attorney, legal representative for individuals requiring assistance, or a third party that acts on behalf of a guarantor); and photographers.

Purpose

Personal information is used to determine an applicant's entitlement to a Canadian passport and to administer passport services. Personal information is collected pursuant to the Canadian Passport Order (SI 81-86) and the Department of Employment and Social Development Act, as amended from time to time.

Consistent uses

Pursuant to the Canadian Passport Order, and as authorized by IRCC, ESDC and GAC provide domestic and international passport service functions. In support of passport program delivery, information may be disclosed between the three departments. This information is described in the institution-specific PIBs; Regular and Official Passports, Certificates of Identity and Refugee Travel Documents (IRCC bank under development) and Consular Affairs-Assistance to Canadians (DFATD PPU 010). All personal information collected is subject to verification to authenticate identity and citizenship. In performing this verification, information may be disclosed to and collected from provincial and territorial institutions that issue identity documents and IRCC that issues citizenship documents. This information is described in the IRCC institution-specific PIB Application and Assessment for Canadian Citizenship (CIC PPU 050).

Personal information collected may be used to determine if there are grounds to refuse or revoke a passport, or to refuse passport services, and to perform security queries. This information is described in the IRCC institution-specific PIB Regular and Official Passports (IRCC bank under development). Personal information collected may be used for investigative or intelligence-gathering purposes. This information is described in the IRCC institution-specific PIB Passport Program Integrity (IRCC bank under development). Photographs of passport applicants are shared with IRCC so that facial recognition technology can convert an applicant's photo into a biometric template and compare it to IRCC's facial recognition database. Personal information printed on passports, including the photograph but not the signature, are also stored electronically on a chip embedded in the passport booklet. Information on lost or stolen passports is disclosed to IRCC. This information is described in the IRCC institution-specific PIBs Regular and Official Passports (IRCC bank under development) and Passport Program Integrity (IRCC bank under development). Information may be used or disclosed for evaluation, reporting, and verification purposes.

Retention and disposal standards

Electronic passport applications and all documentation will be retained until the bearer has reached 100 years of age. When the applicant holds a valid Canadian passport that will not expire until the bearer exceeds their 100th birthday, the passport application and all documentation will be retained for one additional period that is equivalent to the validity of the passport issued. Microfilmed passport applications and all supporting documentation will be retained for 75 years.

Note: IRCC remains the Office of Primary Interest and owns all records. ESDC follows IRCC retention and disposition rules.
