You must prove your relationship to your sponsor in Canada. The following documents are necessary to establish this link. To be considered, the documents submitted must be historical and must pre-date the sponsorship.

- A copy of your sponsor's original Record of Landing (IMM 1000) in which you are declared as a dependent.
- Proof that your sponsor has either declared you as a dependent on a Canadian personal income tax declaration (i.e., a certified copy from income tax return – from 1989 to 1992 – listing dependents and amounts received with copy of Annex 6), or as a beneficiary on official documents (the date you were designated should be mentioned on the document). Residents of Quebec can provide us with a certified copy of their Quebec income tax along with Annex A.

We will not accept as proof of relation:

- Newly issued documents, except for very young children.
- "Road to Health" cards as proof of relationship between a child and a father.
- Photocopies of documents or amended documents. Only genuine originals are accepted.

The speed with which we can decide whether an interview is required in your case depends on the availability of original documentation to prove your claim – do not renew or amend documents, as these will be rejected.

The documents provided are verified to confirm their authenticity and this will cause delays in your application. If you wish to speed up your application because you do not have the required documents, you may opt to undergo DNA testing. Indicate your willingness to proceed with DNA testing by attaching a letter to your completed application.
