Gender-based analysis plus (GBA Plus)

Institutional GBA Plus Capacity
PrairiesCan programs support businesses owned or majority-led by underrepresented groups, such as Indigenous peoples, women, youth, 2SLGBTQQIA+, black entrepreneurs, entrepreneurs with disabilities, newcomers to Canada, and members of official language minority communities. Programming aims to increase participation of underrepresented groups in the economy by supporting businesses directly or through not-for-profit organizations by providing funding, business services, training and access to resources. To enhance data collection and ensure consistency of gender and diversity data on all PrairiesCan applicants, a diversity and inclusion section was added to all application forms. This allows PrairiesCan to compile aggregate information for diverse groups on the ownership and/or leadership of the organizations applying to PrairiesCan programs. From this data, PrairiesCan could identify potential access issues, make evidence-based decisions, and monitor progress towards improved access to programs and services. PrairiesCan supports research and study of entrepreneurial data to identify gaps, and better understand unique challenges faced by certain underrepresented groups. This informs future program parameters and design. PrairiesCan commissioned The Centre for Innovation Studies to launch Global Entrepreneurship Monitor (GEM) studies across the West to better understand the unique challenges faced by women and youth in entrepreneurship. PrairiesCan also invested in a GEM study on the COVID-19 pandemic's impact on entrepreneurship in western Canada. In 2021-22, a renewed GEM study was initiated. Results and summary reports on women and youth in western Canada as well as regional entrepreneurship in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, are expected in 2023. Some initial results from the GEM studies include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • PrairiesCan investment has already sparked new research and partnerships across Canada. • The published reports and launch event have passed along the results and learning with ecosystem partners. More broadly, the insights gained from the reports were shared with other federal departments and through a social-media campaign. • By filling knowledge gaps, PrairiesCan will continue to improve thinking within the entrepreneurial ecosystem and better target supports for women and youth entrepreneurs.
