COVID-19

For more information:

COVID-19

If a pan-Canadian response is needed when a new virus emerges, Canada’s public health agencies are ready to respond. To help reduce COVID-19 and its impact on the population, agencies are working together:

- The Public Health Agency of Canada (PHAC)
- The Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA)
- The Canadian Health Network

Awards

- The Pan-Canadian PHAC
- The Canadian Food Inspection Agency
- The Canadian Health Network

Contact Us

1-833-784-4397  canada.ca/le-coronavirus

Infectious

If someone is infected, the appropriate measures are taken to isolate the sick and prevent the disease from spreading. The Public Health Agency of Canada is responsible for: - Informing the public of the measures taken - Informing the public of the measures taken - Informing the public of the measures taken - Informing the public of the measures taken - Informing the public of the measures taken - Informing the public of the measures taken - Informing the public of the measures taken - Informing the public of the measures taken - Informing the public of the measures taken - Informing the public of the measures taken

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.

Infectious Disease Surveillance

Canada’s public health agencies have a national surveillance system for COVID-19. Information is transmitted to an online reporting system, which is securely transmitted to the PHAC and then to the local health authorities.