

Help prevent the spread of avian influenza

Avian influenza mostly affects wild birds. It has also infected poultry and a variety of mammals.

In nature

Keep your distance from wild birds and wildlife and don't touch, hand feed, or handle them.

Outside with your pet

Keep your pets away from sick or dead birds and other wildlife.

Contact your veterinarian if you think your pet is sick.

Consume milk and milk products that are pasteurized.

Wash your hands thoroughly with soap and water or hand sanitizer after touching animals or being in animal enclosures.

Cook all foods made with poultry, meat and eggs thoroughly.
