

Chief Public Health Officer of Canada

A Health Equity Approach

All Canadians deserve a chance to achieve optimal health.

I will champion the reduction of health disparities in key populations in Canada so that the poorest and most marginalized among us have a chance to lead healthy lives, both physically and mentally.

I am committed to working with all of our partners, to support science and research to provide the best evidence to inform our actions, and to engage with Canadians, especially those with lived experience.

Areas of Focus for Prevention & Promotion

CPHO will provide leadership and a convening role in six areas of public health where inequities contribute to higher rates of mental and physical illness.

Cannabis, opioids, alcohol

Eliminating Tuberculosis

Healthy children & youth

Sexually transmitted & blood-borne infections

Anti-microbial resistance

Healthy built environments
