

Disclosure of Personal Information under the Public Service Employment Regulations and the Political Activities Regulations Chart

The PSC has the authority under the relevant Regulations to release the personal information of an individual if such a disclosure would:

Public Service
Employment
Regulations (s. 19)

Promote fair and transparent employment practices

Promote accountability

Correct wrongdoing or improper employment practices and prevent recurrences

Encourage the adoption or continuance of proper employment practices

Political Activities
Regulations (s. 14)

Promote political impartiality in the public service

Promote accountability

Correct improper political activity or prevent recurrence of such activity

Encourage the adoption or continuance of proper practices regarding political activity

Prior to disclosure, the PSC shall consider whether the public interest outweighs the privacy interests of the individual.

