Note:

When an artillery regiment and its allocated batteries are amalgamated with another regiment and its batteries, perpetuation is assigned to the batteries which maintain the same numerical designation. When a numerical designation is not continued, the perpetuation goes to the new regiment as a whole.

Note :

Lorsqu'un régiment d'artillerie et ses batteries sont amalgamés à un autre régiment d'artillerie et ses batteries, la perpétuation est allouée aux batteries conservant la même désignation numérique. S'il n'y a pas une continuation de la désignation numérique, la perpétuation incombe au régiment dans son ensemble.

Note:

The Canadian Machine Gun Corps was disbanded in 1936 and its units were amalgamated with existing Non Permanent Active Militia regiments. In those cases where a machine gun unit was broken-up into company sized groups and amalgamated with various regiments, perpetuation was specifically afforded so that perpetuation of First World War units could be maintained.

Note :

Le « Canadian Machine Gun Corps » fut dissous en 1936 et ses unités furent fusionnées avec les régiments existants de la Milice active non permanente. Dans les cas où une unité de mitrailleuses était divisée en groupes de la grosseur d'une compagnie et incorporée à différents régiments, on a mis en place des mesures particulières assurant la perpétuation des unités de la Première Guerre mondiale.
