10 SANITARY SECTION, C.E.F. (SIBERIA).

Sanitary Section (Siberia).	10-10-18	Capt. H.W. Lewis	10-10-18	23-5-19.		Vladivostok.	26-10-18	23-5-19.		This Unit was organized in Vancouver October 10th, 1918, with a strength of 1 Officer and 25 O.R. O.C. Capt H.W. Lewis, C.A.M.C. Returned on board "Empress of Japan" for Vladivostok, 11-10-18. Arrived, 26-10-18 and was quartered in the 54 Barracks. Incinerators were built immediately, grease traps installed, latrines put up and kept in a sanitary condition, and the water supply of the camp taken over. Samples of water were forwarded at regular intervals to the Laboratory at No. 11 Stationary Hospital and it was found necessary to boil same before use. The Barracks at Gournastai Bay, 10 m from Vladivostok, were taken over and made habitable for the troops. Permanent indoor latrines were soon built, sanitary and worked very satisfactorily. A permanent bath house was recommended and built. The matter of regular and frequent bathing, the fumigation of blankets and such other practices as expedient to the good health of the troops were given due consideration by the Medical Authorities, owing to the various diseases which prevailed throughout the country. Standing orders on general sanitation prepared by the Sanitary Officer and embodied in Standing Orders of the Camp Commandant. These dealt with water, the importance of boiling same, the storage of food and protection of same from flies, and other sources of infection. Cleanliness of kitchens, messes and quarters, bathing and the necessity of cleanliness in and around canteens, etc. Inspections of the quarters occupied by Canadians were made regularly by the Sanitary Officer. Medical and Sanitary inspections of the Refugee Trains were also made. In the early winter, Typhus Fever made its appearance in Vladivostok, which was regarded as a serious menace to the troops and consequently, every precaution was taken, minimizing the part which lice play in the spreading of the disease, immediate steps were taken to combat lousiness on its appearance. Railway cars were also fumigated from time to time. One A.C.O. of Sanitary Section accompanied the Advance Party which proceeded to Omsk, in Dec./19. A case of Cerebro-spinal Meningitis developed in Gournastai Bay Barracks. The patient was removed to No. 11 Stationary Hospital, all possible precautions taken to prevent the spread of the disease. During the absence of the A.D.M.S. in the East, his duties were carried on by the O.C. Sanitary Section, who had been acting as D.A.I. In order to fight Typhus in Western Siberia a vigorous campaign was carried on by the Allies. An Anti-Typhus Train was organized through the country, to bath and de-louse and to supply with clean underclothing. First, all troops who had become infected and then, all civilians who were considered to be a menace to the troops. The O.C. Sanitary Section was appointed to represent the British Forces on the Inter-allied Anti-Typhus Train Committee and was elected Chairman of same. A purely Canadian Anti-Typhus Train was made ready for operation but, on evacuation, not having as yet commenced its work, was handed over to the Russian Mission. Although several cases of infections appeared during the time the Canadian Sanitary Section was in Siberia, the spread of same was checked by the application of the strictest precautions. The personnel of the Sanitary Section sailed home on various dates during April & May 1919, the last party consisting of the 5 O.R., sailing on May 25th, upon which the Unit might be considered as ceased to exist.
