Nos. 4 and 10 companies failing to turn out. 19 men had to be sent to their homes as unfit for service. It appears to be impossible to keep up a 10 company Battalion in this county, and a reduction of 3 or 4 companies will have to be made. The equipment of No. 4 company has already been ordered into stores, and I shall be prepared to recommend further reductions later on. The regiment improved in appearance and drill towards the termination of the camp.

	Inspected by Lt.-Col. Hon. M. Aylmer, A.A.G. The postponement of the inspection to 1st November, 1893, militated seriously against a full muster, as well as against what otherwise might have proved a most satisfactory inspection. There are two other causes that must lessen the efficiency of this regiment, namely: the funding of pay for other than the purpose for which it is given; and the annual military picnic.	This troop turned out well ; horses good ; equipment not as clean as it should be, considering it is in charge of a paid caretaker, who, in my opinion, fails to do his duty. The carbines are very dirty, and the saddlery not properly turned out. Mounted drill good, also sword exercise. The troop marched to Carleton Place on reconnaissance duty and were absent a few days, the march steadying both horses and men, and was much appreciated by all. Strength at inspection of all ranks, 31 ; at muster, 35 ; absent, 1 officer and 2 men.
	This Battalion assembled much under strength ; Nos. 4 and 5 companies only turning out fairly strong and well equipped. Nos. 3 and 6 failed to turn out, and officers commanding have been called upon to report cause. Attention was paid by all ranks to drill and duties, and a marked improvement was observable on termination of the camp. 4 men from this Battalion were rejected as unfit for service.

Completed on the 7th July, 1893, and the 8th was employed to return home.	Physique good. Men alert and steady in the ranks. The field officers not up to their work. Two captains over age. The St. Julie company deficient of accoutrements, the captain reported that the armoury was burnt some time ago and nothing replaced since. To centralize to St. Johns or Lévis this Battalion must divide into two on account of railway transport. I respectfully suggest that the companies be renumbered, those concentrating at St. Julie, Nos. 2, 3 and 5, to become Nos. 1, 2 and 3, those concentrating at Robertson, Nos. 1, 4 and 6, to be Nos. 4, 5 and 6, thus dividing naturally the Battalion into wings or half Battalion.

This is an excellent Battalion and was well turned out. Clothing and accoutrements clean and well fitted, and its general appearance smart and soldierlike. The drills, which consisted of Battalion movement, route marching and advance guards, in connection with the annual mobilization of Imperial troops, manual and firing exercises and company movements, were well performed, the officers showing an intelligent knowledge of their respective duties. The system pursued with respect to the issue of orders and the discipline and interior economy of the corps is good.

	This company was under strength both as regards officers and men, otherwise it is in good condition. The physique is excellent. A good drill instructor is greatly needed, also a building of some kind for drill and parade. Formerly a stable was used for this purpose, at present an old church is the only cover available. A drill hall is an absolute necessity, also an armoury, the present room being quite unfit for the purpose. Lieut. Bryant of this company was absent without leave on the day of inspection; he was reported to me also as having only put in a few drills. He has since forwarded me his resignation.
