

The Brigade, composed of five battalions (36 companies), paraded thirty-five companies, for inspection, of the following strength:—

1st Brigade, Garrison Artillery,	{ 6 Batteries } { 1 Co. Eng. }	Officers and men 345	average 49 $\frac{3}{4}$	per Co,
2nd " " " "	6 Batteries	" " 151	" 25 $\frac{1}{8}$	" "
1st Battalion Rifles	7 Companies	" " 317	" 45 $\frac{3}{7}$	" "
2nd " " "	8 " "	" " 332	" 41 $\frac{1}{2}$	" "
3rd " " "	7 " "	" " 260	" 37 $\frac{1}{4}$	" "
Present at Inspection.....		1,405
Establishment.....		2,128

The average per company is not nearly so high as at previous inspection, but I believe it was owing to great pressure of railroad work.

The absentees were all properly accounted for, and only four men reported absent without leave.

The Brigade has five efficient bands (the three bands at Head Quarters are brigaded) and being largely composed of musicians from H. M.'s service, and under first class instructors, are a credit to the Volunteer Force.

I am pleased to be able to state, with regard to the arms, that after a very careful inspection I did not find one dirty rifle in the Brigade, which is creditable to the men who had the arms for some time in their keeping.

The clothing now in use for nearly four years is in capital order and has evidently been well taken care of.

With the exception of the 2nd Brigade Garrison Artillery, the battalions have gone through their target practice satisfactorily. Returns of which have been already forwarded.

When the ground and time of inspection allowed of it, the movements were those laid down by the Adjutant General's memorandum on the subject; in other instances Company drill was substituted.

Taking into account that the Brigade had not drilled since their annual drill for 1868-9, the several movements were fairly executed.

The Brigade is now putting in their annual drill for year ending June 30th, 1870.

The annual Brigade Rifle Match was well attended by the men of the Brigade and the firing excellent.

There were also several matches between the Brigade and regiments of H. M.'s Service and Militia.

I have to report very favorably of the several drill instructors of the Brigade, their whole time being available for instruction and orderly room duties.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

W. B. GALLWEY,

Lieut-Colonel,

Brigade Major, Militia.

The Adjutant-General of Militia,
Ottawa.

				AT INSPECTION, AND	HOW PERFORMED.
A small and newly organized band.	None.	5 Coy. drill sheds at Lans- down, Almonte, Smith's Falls, Fitzroy, and Perth.	Clothing much worn, rifles very clean, and well taken care of.	Company and battalion drill every day, with two brigade days dur- ing the week.	Yes.	Yes.	No men reported under this head.	None.	Was brigaded with the 41st Batt., performed their brigade movements ex- cellently, the greatest zeal shown by Command- ing Officer and Officers to push battalion on in drill during days in camp. Date of inspection, 1st of October 1869.
None.	None.	5 Co. drill sheds at Bell's Cor- ners, North Gower, Richmond, Manstick, and Goulburn.	Clothing much worn, accou- trements mostly old, but in fair order. Rifles, with few exceptions, very clean.	Ordinary company and light infantry and battalion movements.	Yes.	Yes.	No men reported under this head.	None.	A fine body of men, but require a great deal more drill. Inspection of bat- talion much shorter than intended, owing to un- favourable state of weath- er. Date of inspection, 15th of October, 1869.
An excellent band, 15 performers.	None.	Batt. drill shed at Prescott. Company drill sheds at Mil- ler's Corners & Burritt's R'p. Clothing much worn and in- different. Rifles and accou- trements clean and in very fair order.	Ordinary company and light infantry and battalion movements.	Yes.	Yes.	No men reported under this head.	None.	This battalion drilled very steadily and well, and did several movements with great precision, also light infantry re- markably well, and shew- ed that the short time in camp had been made the best use of. Date of inspection, 29th of September, 1869.
A very good brass band, num- bering 14 musicians.	None.	Company drill shed at Cornwall. Clothing of 3 Co's good, that of 3 other Co's much worn. Deficiency in great-coats. Arms in good order. Accoutrements, partly unserviceable.	Ordinary company and battalion movements.	Yes.	Yes.	No men reported under this head.	Officers complain of insuffi- ciency of allowance for transport.	The men were very clean and steady on parade, and movements fairly execu- ted. Improvement in ap- pearance, and drill very marked. Band playing in the evening added much to the enjoyment of the men. Date of inspection, 9th of October, 1869.
