

WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH

October is Women's History Month in Canada

Celebrate

This month is an opportunity to honour women and girls, past and present, who have built a more inclusive Canada, while also recognizing the work still needed to remove barriers so that everyone can participate fully in Canada's social, cultural, and economic life.

Discover the impact of remarkable Canadian women.

Inspire Future Generations

By showcasing role models, Women's History Month encourages girls and young women to see themselves as leaders and changemakers. Greater representation empowers individuals, fuels innovation, and drives economic growth.

Share the stories of women trailblazers you know or admire.

Continue to Make History

Women's History Month also shines a light on the inequalities women still face, such as wage gaps, underrepresentation in leadership, barriers to entering and advancing in the workforce, and the need to work together toward lasting change.

Take action to advance gender equality in your community.

Did you know?

Women's History Month coincides with Persons Day, the commemoration of the 1929 "Persons Case," when the Famous Five fought to have women legally recognized as persons under the British North America Act, securing the right to sit in the Senate.
