

Women of Impact in Canada

<https://swc-cfc.gc.ca/commemoration/woi-fic/index-en.html>

Horizontal

4. An accomplished neurologist, she made history as the first woman to travel to space. [Bondar]
8. Her image graces the Canadian ten dollar bill. [Viola]
9. At only 15, she launched a national education movement on behalf of Indigenous children. [Shannen]
11. Her drawing The Enchanted Owl was commemorated on a Canada Post postage stamp. [Ashevak]
12. Although it took only 19 days to lose her Indian Status, she dedicated two decades of her life to fighting to regain it. [Carlson]
13. She is Canada's Chief Science Officer. [Mona]
14. She was a Rebel Daughter, proud feminist, and pioneering editor. [Anderson]
17. The "Queen of the Hurricanes" is her lasting legacy. [Elsie]
18. Rather than take up crocheting, she pursued the law, where she eventually reigned Supreme. [Bertha]
20. She received an honorary doctorate in recognition of her efforts to change the Indian Act. [Lavell]
22. In her role at the UN, she continues to be a leading voice for international human rights. [Arbour]
24. She "Lost [Her] Talk" while at residential school and devoted much of her later poetry to describing her experience. [Joe]
25. The organization Fleurbec was started by this Quebec botanist. [Gisele]

Vertical

1. She is considered an honorary member of the Group of Seven. [Carr]
2. By establishing the Toronto Women's Literary Club, she is credited with launching the women's movement in Canada. [Stowe]
3. She became lieutenant governor of Saskatchewan after a distinguished career as a medical researcher. [Fedoruk]
5. Rather than be an "angel in the house," she preferred to be Canada's first woman elected to Parliament. [Agnes]
6. Her breakthrough novel, Obasan, was published in 1981. [Kogawa]
7. The Persons Case victory in 1929 paved the way for her to become Canada's first woman senator. [Cairine]
10. Nicknamed Tshaukuesh, her environmental advocacy spans four decades. [Penashue]
15. A hero of the War of 1812 and to chocolate lovers throughout Canada. [Secord]
16. She was Canada's first woman architect. [Hill]
19. Her song "Universal Soldier" became an anthem of the 1960s peace movement. [Buffy]
21. "Je veux toute toute toute la vivre ma vie," proclaimed this Acadian singer-songwriter. [Angele]
23. Her column in the Toronto Star introduced countless Canadians to the wonders of astronomy. [Hogg]