The Government of Canada will be guided by the following principles:

- Youth have the right to be heard and respected.
- Youth have the right to equal access to opportunities and supports.
- When youth reach their full potential, it benefits all Canadians.

The Government of Canada will:

- create meaningful opportunities for youth voices to be heard and respected
- provide accessible supports that meet the evolving needs of youth

while recognizing these youth-identified priorities:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Leadership &amp; Impact</th>
<th>Health &amp; Wellness</th>
<th>Innovation, Skills &amp; Learning</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Employment</td>
<td>Truth &amp; Reconciliation</td>
<td>Environment &amp; Climate Action</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Every 4 years, the Government of Canada will release a report highlighting the state of youth in Canada, with a focus on Indigenous youth.